COAL GOES UNDER U.S. CONTROL IN 48 HOURS

Emergency Commission to Function Without Delay—Will Handle Distribution and Combat Profiteering.

Washington, July 25.—The government's emergency coal control program will begin to function within forty-eight hours.

In making this announcement today, Secretary Hoover said ratification of the emergency plan for distribution and restriction of unfair prices by the operators' association was expected within the time mentioned, but if co-operation was withheld in any district the government would proceed to appoint the necessary local committees.

APPLIES TO ALL

The emergency coal control plan, Mr. Hoover stated, is intended to apply to all coal produced, whether in the non union or union fields, and it was indicated that service orders by the interstate commerce commission providing for priorities in the allocation of coal cars may be expected almost immediately.

EXHAUSTED MEANS

As regards the coal strike itself Mr. Hoover declared the government had exhausted every means toward a settlement, that it had offered arbitration which had been rejected and the matter to be taken care of now was the distribution of coal as produced.

The commerce secretary indicated the intention of the government to prevent advancing coal prices, and declared that under the emergency program no freight cars would be allocated to those who tried to rob the public." Sharp advances in prices have been reported to the commerce department from some localities, he said, reaching as high as $13 50 a ton in western Kentucky.

SELECT PERSONNEL.

Selection of the personnel of the central committee of government officials to supervise the operation of the emergency plan was expected to be discussed with President Harding today by Secretary Hoover and announcements of its makeup to be made shortly

Mr Hoover declared that no legislation was necessary to institute the plan, but intimated that should its operation be required for any considerable length of time, legislation might be necessary to defray the expenses of the organization.

COMMISSION PROPOSED.

Washington, July 25—Creation of a federal coal commission of three members appointed by the president to investigate the coal industry and recommend legislation to congress was proposed in a resolution introduced today by Chairman Borah of the senate labor committee

Recommendations will be required from the commission "on the advisability or necessity of nationalizing the coal industry," and "the feasibility or necessity of governmental regulation and control of the coal industry"

An administration spokesman in discussing the coal strike situation said appointment of a federal commission to go into the coal industry and ascertain the facts was not in prospect at least this week

Farrington Says Public Demands Coal Peace

Chicago, July 25—Public welfare, Frank Farrington, president of the Illinois miners, declared Monday, demands a speedy settlement of the coal and rail strikes

"Immediate adjustment of the rail strike should come before settlement of the coal strike that all railroad forces may move coal as soon as the miners begin work," he said. He was not optimistic over settlement of the coal strike

NO CHANGE YET.

"I see no reason," he averred, "of changing my opinion of April 1 when I said this strike would be settled by either one of two methods, separate district agreements or government intervention."

It was reported from Springfield that operators in that section were preparing to reopen their mines. Regarding this Mr. Farrington said "I do not believe that the operators of Illinois will attempt to work their mines with non-union labor. They know it can't be done"

Industries Sounding Strike Danger Signal

Warn Against Impending Crisis—Public Utilities and Big Business Feeling Touch of Coal and Rail Labor Wars.

[By the Associated Press]

Chicago, July 25. — The railway strike, combined with the coal strike, was being brought home to the public today through the announcements of leaders in several industries that unless a speedy settlement was reached closing of the plants with resulting unemployment, rationing of fuel and food supplies, and a crippling of public utilities service would result.

CLOSE THREATENED.

Steel plants, especially in the east, will be closed on a wholesale scale if present conditions continue until August, according to the head of a large steel corporation.

Large quantities of coal were unobtainable at any price in New York. In Chicago increases of from $5.25 to $15 25 a ton in coal prices were announced. A shortage of coal cars in bituminous fields has caused an appreciable decline in production.

PARALYZD WISCONSIN.

The close relationship which the strikes were assuming was seen in the statement of H. B. Trumbower of the Wisconsin Railroad commission that if the coal strike lasted an additional two weeks rail transportation in that state would be at a standstill.

Official Washington has maintained silence on the rail situation, but it was confidently expressed that President Harding would begin action to end the shopmen's strike during the week. In some quarters it was believed that the next move might come through the railroad labor board.

BOARD HAS POWER.

It was pointed out that the board has power to grant full recognition to the new shopmen's unions which forty eastern roads, under the leadership of L F. Loree, eastern regional chairman association of railway executives, contemplate forming.

Hopes for immediate peace were centered in the meeting of officials of the Baltimore and Ohio road with representatives of the strikers. Success in settling differences on that road probably would mean that other roads would adopt a similar course.

NO FURTHER SPREAD.

Further spread of the walkout was considered unlikely since the announcement that the 10,000 members of the station agents union would remain at work, made by W. J. Noone, head of the union, after a conference with W. L. McMenimen, labor member of the rail board. However, members of the local union of firemen at Evansville, Ind., yesterday adopted resolutions recommending a strike unless guards were removed from the entire Louisville and Nashville system.

ADD TO MECHANICS.

Bloomington, Ill., July 25. — The number of mechanics and laborers for Bloomington shops is being added to daily. One train came in yesterday with a light consignment, twenty-six. Another train brought in fourteen more, while two others came up from St. Louis.

Others are expected today.

CHANGE TROOPS TODAY.

Bloomington, July 25.—Orders were issued yesterday to make the change in troops at Bloomington today instead of Wednesday. A special is due to leave Chicago about 7 o'clock this morning for Bloomington and the same equipment will be used to carry the troops here to be relieved back to Chicago, departing about 2 p. m

BOARD ONLY AGENCY.

Washington, July 25—The railroad labor board remains the only agency through which the government can and will deal with the railroad strike situation, though President Harding is continuing to hold himself in contract with all actions which the board takes in the matter, it was stated today at the White House.

TO GIVE PROTECTION.

Washington, July 25.—The immediate policy of the government in the coal strike situation was declared at the White House to be a continuation of its endeavors to furnish protection to men willing to work in the mines and to put into motion the machinery decided upon for distribution of the dwindling coal supply.

RAIL HAPPENINGS

The meeting of President Harding's cabinet was watched for decisive action to arrest any break down of transportation.

Union leaders at Baltimore declared that the first open attempt made today by the Baltimore and Ohio to affect a settlement with its strikers, would be rejected.

General chairmen of the railway clerks union, meeting in Chicago decided to take no immediate action toward joining the strike but sent a committee to confer with the labor board regarding interpretation of board decisions.

Business and industry begin to feel the pinch of the rail walkout in combination with the coal strike.

Pessimistic outlook on business conditions reflected by report of the national industrial board, an employers organization

CHARGED WITH TIRE THEFT.

Hugh Mense giving his residence as 203 West Seventh street was arrested Sunday evening by officers Edmission and Murray. He had in his possession a large new automobile truck tire. He was placed in the city jail when he failed to give satisfactory information as to why and how he had the tire in his possession. It was later learned that the Central Illinois Public Service Company had had their service station on Oak street broken into and one of the tires removed from one of the trucks that was there. The officers took the tire to the jail and officers from the above mentioned company identified it as the same one as was missing from the service station.

Mense was brought into court on Monday morning and the preliminary hearing was waived by Police Magistrate T. D. Kelligar who bound him over to the October term of Grand Jury. As he was unable to furnish the required bond he was taken to Taylorville Monday evening and placed in the county jail.

Pinkham's Vegetable Compound with very good results. I can work all day long now at my sicktime. NEW ZENNA CLOTH FOR FALL SUITS

Has Satiny Surface of Dark Colors.

Paris, July 25.—The new zenana cloth is used for some of the fall suits shown here now. It has a satiny surface, unlike the older zenana cloth, and it comes in dark colors as well as in black. Some cloaks in this material are also shown, and these are particularly practicable because they fill in the time between the summer gown and the cold weather garments. With high, outstanding collar and wide sleeves, the wrap of this sort is a successful link between a very light weight tailored suit and a fur coat.

HAS NEW IDEA.

London, July 25.—A new idea has struck the makers of the popular three-piece suits. Hitherto these suits were really two-piece, the blouse being sewn to the skirt. Now, however, there are suits that really come apart into three pieces. The skirt is finished at the top with suspenders, and the blouse—of crepe or georgette to match the skirt—may be changed at will. Instead of a coat, the summer three-piece suit has a fetching little cape.

The cape of course is of the same material as the skirt.

NEW WALKING DRESSES.

London, July 25.—The latest walking dresses for use in the country and on the Moors are made like overcoats. The skirt is very wide and folds over, fastening with a button or a snap at the side. Sometimes the fastening is merely a knotted sash end. This type of gown is a good deal easier to get into than the sort which pull on over the head. Bloomers are usually worn beneath these walking costumes, which are of tweed.

OVER-BLOUSES.

New York, July 25.—Sport overblouses are made now in English prints. These brilliant little waists, fastening with a neat belt and fancy buttons or with a jaunty sash, are delightful when worn with a plain sports skirt. There is danger of course, in wearing too many colors at once in a sports costume. For the vari-colored skirt a jersey overblouse is a good idea. It may be obtained in one color or in two tones harmonizing with some shade in the skirt.

MISS L[illegible]T AND B. A. STEWART WED

Ceremony Took Place Thursday in Bloomington.

The wedding of Miss Virgie Dorsett and Bradford Allen Stewart of Bloomington took place Thursday at high noon, in the parsonage of the St. James Methodist church in Bloomington, Rev. W. H. McPherson officiating.

The couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Roger Griffith of Danville, Miss Gladys Dorsett, sister of the bride and Miss Lynss Thomas, both of Decatur, Edgar Jones of Danville, and Fred Glose of Gibson City.

Following the ceremony a wedding dinner was served at 12:30 in the home of Mrs L. A. Brussy of North Hazel street, a cousin of the bride, to the members of the wedding party.

Mrs Stewart is the daughter of W. P. Dorsett and has been a teacher in the E. A. Gastman school for the last three years. She is also a graduate of the Decatur high school, and Illinois State Normal at Bloomington.

Mr. Stewart is a graduate of the Illinois State Normal at Bloomington and is a clerk in the revenue office at Clinton, where the couple will be at home after August 1. They left immediately for a trip to Chicago, and the Great Lakes.

Miss Thomas returned to Decatur, Sunday evening, after attending the wedding.

Hats Two Feet Wide on Way From Paris to Invade U. S.

Paris designers say that longer skirts simply demand larger hats.

Well, here is one that should be large enough for any 1922 model gown. It measures just two feet across.

It was brought from Paris by Lillian Atkinson, who says these overgrown pieces of millinery are all the rage there and that they are on their way over to us.

MAY PUT ON BIG STYLE SHOW

Display Men Make Suggestion.

The regular meeting of the Decatur Display Men's club was held Monday evening in the A. of C. rooms. The nine local men who attended the International Display Men's convention at Chicago reported that it was a very interesting, educational and successful event and they are very enthusiastic about it. They are already planning to get more good for the local club out of the next convention, which will be held in Cleveland, Ohio.

WANT STYLE SHOW.

A resolution was adopted to advocate a big formal style show this fall with every store in Decatur taking part. The idea is that the merchants will all uncover their fall opening displays at a given time on a given evening. With good publicity for the event, and the Goodman band to furnish music on the up town streets, this could be made into a gala event. It should crowd the streets with people viewing the show windows. This plan was worked out in Bloomington and many other towns twice yearly and was very successful. The display men are urging the Decatur merchants to consider it.

SIGHT ICEBERG ON OCEAN TRIP

Mrs. Heinle Writes Interestingly of Voyage.

Quite an interesting letter and account of the ocean voyage taken by Mr. and Mrs W. F. Heinle, Miss Ona Giffin, Miss Mollie and Miss Sophia Drobisch, Mr. and Mrs. Lou Heinle and daughter, Grace, William Bowersock of Argenta and Mrs. M. A. Connard and daughter, Lucille, has been received by Miss Dorothy Giffin, sister of Mrs. Heinle and Miss Giffin. The party left Decatur June 28, and sailed June 30 on the "Montcalm" landing in Liverpool July 8. They will tour Europe.

DEPARTURE.

In part, the letter, written by Mrs. W. F. Heinle reads: "The boat left on time to the very minute, a deafening whistle, a moment of silence, another whistle—the final signal, the gangway is drawn, and all means of escape is gone, and we are off for Europe. Just ahead, we notice a small tug boat, and cautiously we are being taken to the main channel of the river. The channl is marked. The deck hands are busy sweeping, scrubbing and even painting places marred by loading. The deck hands may be distinguished as old or new by the bronze or white nock and arms.

The farms we could see as we passed along are apparently grazing farms with large barns, and a few thatched roofs. The houses are very quaint, some of stone and the peculiar slope roof always painted by an artist. With field glasses it seems one continual painting.

DINING ROOM.

"The dining room of the boat is beautiful with its long tables, beautiful linen, silver service and even flowers of rarest beauty. Following the breakfast, broth and crackers are served at 10:30, lunch at noon, and tea and wafers at 3.30, with dinner at 6 o'clock.

"The passengers are from babes in arms to the white haired with canes. Many of the men appear in knickers and heavy wool knee socks. The weather is warm, most too warm for a jacket, with scarcely any breeze, as we consider a river breeze.

UNDER BRIDGE

"Just before reaching Quebec we passed under a bridge which caused quite a sensation. The men even bet their good money the boat could never go under, that the bridge would raise the center portion, but under we went, and the captain said we had 15 feet to spare. We reached Quebec at 10:30 and found it quite beautiful at night." The party will visit there on the return trip.

PLAY GAMES

Of Saturday, the second day out, they write: "With warm weather, a smooth ocean, the 1,000 passengers of the Montclam start the second day with the morning promenade. The scenery is one sameness. An occasional boat passes. Various games, as jumping the rope, pillow fights or boxing matches, help to interest the passengers, with a few sitting in their steamer chairs, reading or doing fancy work. It was Dominion Day, and a very appropriate program was given in the lounge room to a crowded house, in the evening.

"Sunday, it rained. Several of the passengers were sick, and unable to breakfast. Church was held at 10:30 in the dining room, and in the lounge at evening. They turn up their watches 34 to 38 minutes each night."

HAD U. S. FLAG.

Mrs. Heinle appeared Tuesday at the breakfast table with the flag. One ship hand stopped her, touched Old Glory, smiled and passed on. The ship was flying the American flag, even thought it is a Canadian boat, although most the passengers are from the U. S. A. Sack races, 50 yard dashes and potato races were enjoyed. Mrs. Heinle and Lucille Connard were asked to take up collection for the prizes.

William Bowersock was captain in the tug of war for the U. S. A. against the Canadian young men, with Canada winning, although they had to work for it.

SEE ICEBERG.

An ice berg was sighted on Monday. "When it was first sighted by the sailors they passed the news rapidly and everybody was soon looking. It first looked like a great white cloud. It appeared very rapidly and we watched it for a half hour. It soon seemed only a block away and very large. Of course, it was miles away, and moving south and we were moving northeast.

"The dances begin [illegible], as we always have a program, such as a movie, musical or mock trial."

SIGHT LAND.

Friday: "We sighted land at 1:30 today. It was the Island of Toorey off the north coast of Ireland. It looks just like a cloud but the sailor says it is land and he should know. The captain told us today he never slept the first four days, and nights, so I guess we are well guarded. We are supposed to land in the morning at 8 o'clock (Saturday).—

"Land is now plainly seen. Ireland on one side and Scotland on the other. Everything is one grand chatter. Everybody is so happy. It is beginning to rain. We are going around the north end of Ireland. Just entering the north channel. I am so sorry darkness will soon hide it from our sight. Darkness has taken it from us, but memory has a picture too large for the wall to contain. We will be in Liverpool in the morning."

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

Chirk Chipmunk Ill? Dr. Snuffles Must Find Out

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

"Isn't my rent paid?" asked Dr. Snuffles anxiously.

One day Mr. Tingaling, the fairyman landlord, went to call on Snuffles, the fairyman doctor.

Nancy and Nick had helped Mr. Tingaling to collect rents and Mr. Tingaling, knowing the Twins were helping Dr. Snuffles, decided to go and see all three of them

After they'd talked about the weather, and everything like that, fat old Tingaling took his rent list out of his pocket and tapped it.

'I've come on a little business," said he.

"Isn't my rent paid?' asked Dr Snuffles anxiously. "I thought I sent you a check."

"Oh, yes, yes! Yes, indeed!" said Mr Tingaling. "It's about another matter In plain words I came to find out about Chirk Chipmunk's health"

"Chirk Chipmunk! Why, what's wrong with him?" asked Nancy in surprise "I saw him this very morning running a race with Scramble Squirrel, and Chirk won"

"M, h'm! So that's it, is it?" nodded Tingaling wisely. "I thought the rascal was fooling me and now I know it

"He said that his house of stones was so damp he was sick all the time with rheumatism and pneumonia and he couldn't pay me any more rent until either the house was dryer or he was spryer.

'I just thought I'd ask. That Chirk is a cute one and you've got to get up early in the morning to get ahead of him

'What do you s'pose I can do, doctor? The Fairy Queen expects me to collect her rents and I'll have to get it some way"

"I tell you what I'll do," said Dr. Snuffles. "I'll go to see Chirk at once, then I can let you know if Chirk is really and truly sick."

If You Are Well Bred

You never permit your spoon to stand in your tea or coffee cup while drinking.

You may test the temperature of your liquid by taking a sip or two from your spoon, but you drink the remainder directly from the cup.

When taking soup from a spoon you take it from the side, not the end.

Stuffed Baked Tomatoes.

BY BERTHA E. SHAPLEIGH.

Cooking Authority for NEA Service and Columbia University.

6 large tomatoes
Stablespoons fat (bacon or butter).
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion.
1 cup cold cooked chopped meat.
1 cup soft stale bread crumbs.
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon thyme.
1 teaspoon paprika.
1 teaspoon sugar.

Cut the tops from the tomatoes and scoop out the inside pulp, leaving a wall one-fourth inch thick. Sprinkle the inside with salt

Fry the onion in fat until slightly yellow Then add meat, bread crumbs and seasonings and cook all together five minutes Add pulp taken from tomatoes and cook a minute.

Fill tomatoes with the mixture—replace the tops, cut a gash on each side of the tomato and place closely together in a baking dish. Bake until tomatoes are soft.

This stuffing may be varied in the following ways.

Raw chopped beef, lamb, veal or pork may be used. Cook in the fat 10 minutes instead of five Cooked rice may be used in place of bread crumbs.

Chopped red and green peppers or parsley may be added.

The same stuffing may be used for peppers, cucumbers, summer squash, vegetable marrow or egg plant.

Vegetables stuffed and baked may be used as the main dish for luncheon, supper or simple dinner.

HOW TO IMPROVE YOUR FACIAL LINES

BY MARJORIE RAMBEAU

Actress in "The Gold Fish," Famed for Beauty of Facial Contour.

Plastic surgery is becoming so common that in time every woman may become the architect of her own face and have any sort of profile she can pay for

But the average woman would never be obliged to have recourse to the knife if she would remember the contour of her face is a reflection of her thoughts and character.

A psychologist once told me it is possible entirely to change the expression and shape of one's mouth in two weeks by changing the current of the thoughts.

If you have overdeveloped your critical faculty and are continually pouting you will destroy the beauty of your lips.

Small lines indicate you have allowed small worries to absorb your attention. Sagging downward lines show you haven't looked on the happy side of things.

A double chin reveals you have not held your head proudly erect, but have allowed it to slump.

The greatest beautifier known is relaxation. Ten minutes of relaxation a day will do more to prevent wrinkles than any other measure.

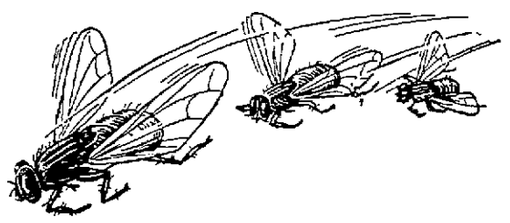

The benefits of massage are differently rated by different schools of beauty. Undoubtedly, heavy facial massage is not desirable, but the simple massage every woman may give herself nightly after cleansing her face does much to keep the muscles firm and the face unlined.

Always use a pure cream and use the first three fingers of each hand. Rub upward and outward, using a firm, gentle touch and a rotary motion. Massage the cheeks, temples, throat and forehead, particularly the region between the eyes where wrinkles are prone to assemble.

When massaging about the eyes be gentle as the tissues are delicate.

To retain the firm contour of the throat massage the muscles in a slanting direction from under the chin toward the shoulders and from the middle of the throat upward toward the ears.

Correct breathing exercises, swimming and exercises which give play to the muscles of the neck will do much to develop it symmetrically.

STRANDED LIFE ON PEAKS

BY PROF. M. J. ELROD.

Chair of Biology, University of Montana.

Timber line on mountains marks the limit of trees. Above this is a belt of grasses, sedges and a profusion of flowers. Should the mountain have perpetual snow this vegetation extends from trees to snow.

The life of summits of moderate height capable of sustaining living organisms is distinct from that at the mountain base. Indeed, as one passes upward on a mountain it is equivalent in life zones to travel northward

Explanation given is that this mountain top life is stranded life, formerly common when a colder era prevailed, which migrated upward as the temperature became warmer, retreating with the snow to present limits.

Throughout the Rocky Mountains the same coniferous trees are found at high elevations. Many summits have the same or closely related species of flowers. A few high altitude mammals characterize the summit animals Many butterflies are never seen at low elevations.

The genus Chinobas, medium-sized, wood-brown, has conspicuous examples; semidea is confined to the tops of the White Mountains; gigas to the bald knobs of Vancouver Island; invallida to the high Sierras; brucei from high Colorado summits, and chryxus from Montana peaks.

Many other illustrations could be given to show the remarkable similarity of high mountain life, each startling and full of interest. The person who has not been to the mountain tops of 8000 feet or higher will find a new world of animals and plants should a visit to such places be made.

OLD TIME SONGS AT COMMUNITY SING

Expect Enthusiastic Crowd At Event Thursday Evening.

Another community sing will be held at the Art Institute Thursday evening. It will start promptly at 7:30. Most of the songs this time are to be well known ones that everybody can sing. The program has not been finally decided upon, but with a few possible changes will be as follows:

Battle Hymn of the Republic.
Sweet and Low.
Long, Long Trail.
Carry Me Back to Old Virginie.
Annie Laurie.
A Merry Life
Great Red Dawn.
Swanee River Moon.
Old Fashioned Garden.
Just a Song at Twilight.

There will be a solo by Clarence Deakins and one by Miss Grace Record. Printed sheets will be given out with the songs and it is anticipated that this sing will be even better and more enthusiastically received than the one a few weeks ago. Lights have been arranged on the grounds.

The joint committee from the three Knights of Pythias lodges, having purchased the Standard Life Property for a Pythian Castle Hall, will go before each of the lodges next week, secure their signatures to the contract for the joint ownership of the building, and the pro rata payment, and then will incorporate, elect officers and issue bonds.

DONATE $50.

At its meeting Monday night, Myrtle Temple No. 2, Pythian Sisters, voted to donate $50 from the treasury for the new building, and to hold a bazar next fall to raise other funds to help the cause along

NEW CHLORINATING MACHINE ARRIVES

Will Be Installed As Soon As Factory Expert Comes.

Installation of the new chlorinating machine which feeds liquid chlorine into the water at the filtration plant at the water works will be made as soon as the expert arrives from the factory to supervise the work. The apparatus arrived Monday and word was sent to the factory to have a man here to connect it as quickly as possible

As soon as the new machine is in service the old one will be repaired and held ready for use when needed.

The new machine cost about $1,100.

ONLY WOMAN ON ARBITRATION BOARD

Miss Mary Reed in Decatur Monday.

Miss Mary Reed, the only woman on the board of arbitration, is in Decatur on the circuit of that board. This is a state office and before her appointment all the members were men. Two years ago she took the examination and ranked highest of all the competitors. A number of people objected to a woman holding this position and it was not until the governor forced her appointment that a woman was allowed on the board

WORKING MEN'S INJURIES.

This board hears cases about working men's injuries and gives its opinion on the case. The other members of the board thought, that a woman should not hear these cases, but there were women's cases coming up right along and being tried by a board made up entirely of men.

She is on the regular circuit of the board of arbitration and will go from here to Danville where there will be a two-day meeting; From there they will go on to Mattoon, Chester and other cities. This circuit lasts about two weeks. The headquarters are at Chicago.

FINISH 55 MILES ON ROUTE NO. 4

Section Between Bloomington and Dwight Now Completed.

State bond route No 4, which will be the route to Chicago for Decatur automobilists after it is finished, is now practicaly completed from Bloomington to Dwight, about fifty-five miles. The section at Lexington in McLean county has not yet been commenced and probably will not be built this year. The contractor for that section appears to have bit off more than he can handle and as a result there will be detour from Bloomington to Lexington for the next several months There is a penalty for the non-completion of the road before Sept. 1.

IN McLEAN COUNTY.

Cameron & Joyce, who had the contract for a large part of the construction work about Chenoa, have moved their outfit to Bloomington and are at work on the McLean county portion of the Lincoln-Bloomington stretch. The right of way for the Logan county portion of this route has been about all secured and the road will be ready for the next letting the first week in August

NO WORK ON ROUTE 16 THIS YEAR

Right of Way Has Not Yet Been Secured.

There is no possibility of state bond issue route No. 16 being built this year, was the word given by State Superintendent Frank T. Sheets to delegations from that route Monday. "There are two reasons why the road can not be built in 1922," said Mr. Sheets, "One is, the state highway department is already tied up in contracts already let or advertised to the amount of the legislative appropriation. The other is that the surveys for the road have not yet been made and it would be a physical impossibility to build it this year.

Route 16 runs from Staunton in a northeasterly direction to Paris, passing through Mount Olive, Litchfield, Hillsboro, Pana, Shelbyville, Windsor, Mattoon and Charleston. It was announced recently that the route had been located and local communities were instructed to proceed to secure the necessary right of way.

C. J. H. ANNEX SOON COMPLETED

Facade Shows No Sign of Old Street Car Barn.

The Central junior high school annex is scarcely ready for critical inspection yet but it will be within a day or two. However, the exterior of the building is so far along that one can with a very slight exercise of the imagination see the finished building

TABLET ON ENTRANCE.

The facade is nearly completed and it shows no vestige of the old street car barn. The light gray of the stucco is relieved by red lines of red, mat-faced brick. A tablet over the entrance bears the inscription, "Central Junior High School Annex—1922" The tablet is of gray stone, which matches the stucco in color. On the west side the stucco is finished, on the east side about half finished, and there is still something to do on the lower half of the front.

Inside the building the partitions have been erected and the rough floor laid. The lathers are at work and the building is about ready for the plasterers.

THOSE CAMPAIGN COSTS.

Is the present primary system to keep the man of moderate means, the man representing that great body of American sentiment which may be termed the stabilizer of the American commonwealth, the man of average or small wealth, out of politics?

The recent financial statement made by Gifford Pinchot, following his successful race in the Pennsylvania primary, to the effect that he had spent about $125,000 came as a shock to the voters of the country.

The Newberry case is still fresh in mind and the question has come to the front as to whether or not the present system is tending to eliminate the man with little money from American politics.

Must a man have a fortune, which he is willing to spend, in order to become an elected office holder in the United States?

If that is true is it a desirable trend to have in American public life?

Is the old convention system with its acknowledged evils and its tendency to fall under the power of small groups, its tendency to perpetuate cliques, bosses and organizations in power, better than the present system?

These questions are being studied and answered in a variety of ways but there seems to be the belief that the primary, with all of its faults and complications, is better than the old party convention plan whereby the "organization" of those already in power had a marked tendency to control the selection of candidates.

The direct primary, on the other hand, puts the selection of candidates directly in the hands of the voters.

The mistakes, if they are made, say the supporters of this Plan, are the mistakes of the voters themselves.

On the other hand, the need of practically two campaigns with the attendant expense and use of time involved in the direct primary is causing much criticism The man successful at the primary after a campaign which is not much less strenuous than the campaign for election, still has the actual race to run.

A combination of the old convention system whereby candidates might be suggested for nomination and then the direct primary used for their selection has been suggested as a way out

Under the convention system the approval of the machine, the bosses, the organization or whatever it was called, was accepted by the partisan voter as his guide Under the direct primary the voter himself must make his merits known to the voter, no small task when the candidate is seeking the nomination for a state, district or county office

Those big figures on campaign costs are causing thoughtful Americans to study the present primary law. They do not want this government to be composed solely of men rich in material wealth

THE NEW "T. R. BLOC."

An interesting development is threatened in congress as a result of the steady gain of the progressives in the Republican Party through the recent primaries and elections. A bloc which will have for itself no specific interest except that of standing for an idea

A bloc of "the friends of T. R." is being seriously proposed and, whether one agreed with many of the things so vigorously upheld by a man who must always be reckoned as a great factor in American history, values can be seen in the formation of such a bloc, such a grouping of men, in congress with the single basis for the action of the bloc as the principles of Americanism as upheld by the rough rider president

Independent of special interests, having no special favors to ask, ready to swing at any time toward the side of a question which represented progress, this independent group of men might become a tremendous factor in national legislation.

Beginning with the victory of Beveridge in Indiana, and following this with the success of Pinchot in Pennsylvania and the Brookhart victory in Iowa there now comes the success of R. B. Howell in the Nebraska primary. All these are ardent Roosevelt men as is also Medill McCormick, Senator from Illinois.

Then with the almost certain election of Hiram Johnson, Roosevelt's running mate in 1912 in California this fall, there will be a group of effective men in public service who can make themselves felt

The Roosevelt way is effective, it is energizing, it is the terror of the inert, stand-patting kind of man in office who has gone into mental ossification.

That proposed "friends of T. R." bloc has possibilities in it as a knight errant ready to help any just cause for the sake of public, rather than party or personal aggrandisement.

NO TIME FOR DELAY.

Decatur should not lag in the development of its city plan. Other cities, many of them, are studying this organized method of city growth and in most of these plans, particularly in the central west, the grade crossing immediately assumes importance. If many of the cities insist on the elimination of grade crossings at one time the railroads will go before the state commission with the plea that it is impossible to do such a volume of this work at one time.

The railroads will doubtless ask for relief from all of the work on the ground that they cannot favor one community more than another.

Springfield has already made a start in the direction of city planning through the employment of Myron H. West, the maker of the city plan for Decatur, and he immediately suggested that in the capital city, as in Decatur, the elimination of the grade crossings is a pressing problem.

If this is a case of first come, first served Decatur should push its city plan, especially in the matter of removing the iron collar which has strangled its symmetrical expansion.

What is said to be the first trade transaction between a private concern in Russia and a private concern in a foreign country was concluded at Riga Monday when a deal was made by a Russian firm with Armour & Co., of this country for a shipment of 3,000 cases of soap. A start back to normalcy anyway.

Think how terrible it will be when four out of Decatur's five city commissioners have their collective neck in that noose

---

It would be a real neck-tie party—sort of a civic four-in-hand.

Bonus Fate May Hang On Payment of England's Debt

Measure Might Go Through If Enough Money To Pay The Bill Comes—Otherwise Veto Awaits Passage of Act.

By Mark Sullivan.

Washington, D C. July 25 — The soldiers' bonus is not really in any position different from where it has been at any time in the last six months. With the exception of one distant possibility, nothing is to be said of it that adds anything to what your correspondent has said in the past.

There is not any reason to suppose that President Harding has changed the position which he took in his letter to representative Fordney in February—namely, that no bonus bill should be passed unless it contained as an integral part some specific means of raising the necessary revenue, and that the only expedient the President could see to raise the money in addition to existing forms of taxation for the other expenses of the government was the sales tax

NO CHANGE IN POSITION.

Since there never has been, and is not now any likelihood of Congress passing the sales tax, it follows that there is nothing in sight to infer any change of position by the President.

The only possible inference from all this is that, if the Senate insists on passing the soldiers' bonus bill in the form in which it now exists, the President will veto it. As to the Senate, it is on this subject, to an even greater degree than on most other subjects, conspicuously and painfully between the devil and the deep sea.

WILL PASS IT.

There isn't any doubt that if the bonus bill in its present form is brought up in the Senate it will be passed by a large majority. Of those who would vote for it by no means all believe in it. Some of those who would vote for it would do so because the conditions in their home districts make it more to their personal interest to vote for the bonus than to vote against it.

But to state the situation as starkly as that does an injustice to many Senators. With many of them the real difficulty is that several months ago, and in some cases as long ago as the campaign of 1920, they made public utterances in favor of the broad idea of a bonus for the soldiers.

FAVORED PASSAGE

In many cases they did this offhand in the course of casual campaign speeches, and without much thought either of the principal involved or of the amount of money that would be necessary.

One of the best men in the Senate who regards himself as committed to the bill by reason of such an offhand utterance along time ago, says now that at the time he had no notion of the billions of money involved in such a measure when applied to all the ex-soldiers.

PASSAGE OVER VETO?

It is because of the aggregate of Senators who have got themselves into positions like this that the bill will certainly pass if it is brought up in the Senate. There then arises the question of what is to happen next. By far the best guess is that President Harding would veto it. To do otherwise would put him in a very equivocal position.

Most of the Senators fully expect he will veto it, but don't care much, because all they want is an opportunity to go on record in fulfillment of their pledges to their local communities.

This aspect of the matter, how-ever has a bearing on the possibility of passing the bill over the President's veto. Some Senators who will vote for the bill when it first comes up will regard themselves as having by that act fulfilled their pledge and discharged their obligation and will thereafter refuse to help pass the

COULD PASS IT.

Just how many senators there are in this particular position cannot be said definitely. Some who have thought over the bonus situation closely believe that it would be passed over the president's veto.

The present writer believes in the lower house the strength of the advocates of the bill is enough to provide the two-thirds vote necessary to overcome the veto.

DOUBTFUL HOWEVER.

As to the senate, however, probably the best judgment, although far from an assured one, is that this body would not pass the bill over Harding's veto.

The one new element in the situation is the possibility in the near future of the payment by Great Britain to the United States of a part of Great Britain's debt to this country.

WOULD GRASP IT.

If Great Britain should actually pay us a considerable sum before the bonus bill comes up, for final action, or if it should have become clearly evident that Great Britain is going to pay, the advocates of the bonus would immediately seize upon that.

They would say that this money would provide enough for at least a first installment in paying the bonus and that subsequent receipts of cash from Great Britain, or from our other European debtors, would take care of future installments on the bonus. Advocates of the bill would say that this unexpected appearance of new cash in the treasury would meet Mr. Harding's objection that the bill must not be passed unless the cash to pay it is available.

FEELING UNKNOWN.

How the president would feel about this, nobody but himself can tell. Probably much would depend on the amount of cash that Great Britain might pay us. If Great Britain's cash installment on her indebtedness is merely a hundred million dollars or so, that would only be a small percentage of the total amount involved in the bonus, and to say that such a small amount would justify going ahead with the proposal would not seem to meet the condition the president made six months ago, to the effect that, if the bill were passed at all it should be a good faith bill and that the money involved should be in hand or definitely in sight. It would be easy, however, to over-estimate the amount Great Britain will pay us in the near future

WILL ASSUME DEBT.

That England is going to assume completely and without quibbling the entire obligation of several billion dollars which she owes us is known. But assuming the obligation is a different matter from turning over the cash.

It will undoubtedly be Great Britain's disposition, and that disposition will be entirely satisfactory to us, to meet the obligation by changing it from its present form of an overdue note into the form of long-term bonds. It may turn out that the financial relations between Great ritain and ourselves will be covered by the acceptance by us of these long-term bonds and that the amount of immediate cash paid as a first installment will be relatively small—much too small to take care of the soldier's bonus

STATE PROHIBITION PAYS DIVIDENDS

Enforcement Said to Make 30 Per Cent.

[By The Associated Press.]

Springfield, Ill., July 25—Prohibition enforced in Illinois was declared to have paid a net profit of about 30 percent on the investment, in a report of compilations of the Anti-Saloon League made public here today by George Yule, district superintendent of the League. NELSONS BACK FROM TURKEY RUN

Found Many Stretches of Paved Road Between Danville and Decatur.

Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Nelson returned Sunday night from Turkey Run, Ind., where they went for a week end trip, partly for the pleasure of the trip and partly to try out their camp equipment before starting on a longer journey. The distance going was 104 miles and returning 139 miles. They came back by way of Covington, Ind., Danville, Urbana and Champaign, which accounts for the additional mileage They camped Saturday night in the state park at Turkey Run and found that their camp equipment worked beautifully but they will add a few more little things before starting to Wisconsin.

O. TO O. FINE.

The Ocean to Ocean highway was fine as a dancing floor except a short piece of rough gravel between Newman and Hume. Indiana roads were generally good but sometimes dusty. After driving for many miles over a wide, smooth but dusty gravel road they came upon a straight line brick road and knew that they were in Illinois. Driving from Danville to Decatur by way of Champaign they had thirty-two and a half miles of fine paved road. Most of the remainder was oiled and what had not been oiled was prepared for oil.

The pavement is distributed as follows: From Danville to St. Joseph, 22½ miles; East of Urbana, 3 miles; South of Champaign, 3 miles; southwest of Monticello, 4½ miles. There is much more paved road between Decatur and Danville but it has not yet been opened up.

NO, NO, SONNY! NOT TODAY.

What's a doting dad to do
With a little chap like you,
Teasing, begging all the time,
Hand extended for a dime
For an ice cream cone or sweet
Mother says you mustn't eat?
Wanting this and wanting that,
If my purse were twice as fat
Really it could not supply
All the things you'd have me buy.

Trouble is, when you commence
Love shuts out my comomn sense,
And so far as you're concerned
My old head's completely turned;
All that I can seem to see
Is a boy that used to be
Who was wanting things like you,
Wanting, wanting all day through,
And it hurt his dad to say:
"No, no sonny! Not today."

Know it isn't wise or good,
Shouldn't do it if I could;
Little boys have greedy eyes,
He regrets it soon who buys
All the sticky stuff and sweet
That his youngster wants to eat;
Yet forever comes the sad
Picture of another dad
Who was forced so oft to say:
"No, no, sonny! Not today."

What's a doting dad to do
With a little bouy like you,
Just the picture of a lad
That his kindly father had?
Doyou think he can forget
All the times those eyes were wet,
And how biterly he sighed
As some fond wish he denied?
It's no easy thing to say:
"No, no sonny! Not today!"

Your Health

Hot Weather Rules.

BY DR. R. H. BISHOP.

In every hot spell there are a number of prostrations, break-downs and deaths. A little precaution would in most cases prevent such casualties, besides making one fit for the same amount of work as in normal weather.

Here are some of the more simple precautions for keeping energy and good disposition:

Wear lightweight, porous clothing that will let the air reach your skin. Avoid tight belts, garters, collars and hats. Clean clothes are cooler than soiled ones.

Eat less meat. Substitute green vegetables fruits and cold foods for the heavy, heat-producing foods Avoid an excess of pastries, fats, sugars and starches.

See that you have a bowel movement once a day Drink plenty of water but avoid ice water

Bathe the feet daily and powder them with talcum. Change your stockings daily. Have a second pair of shoes and keep alternating them.

Avoid high heels

Do not powder excessively.

Do all these things, then stop talking and thinking about the heat Concentrate on your work, but don't overwork.

ABOUT TOWN

THERE is one woman in Decatur who is entitled to the croix de guerre, the medaille militaire, the D. S. O, the Victoria cross or even the Congressional medal of honor for bravery in a fashionable New York restaurant recently.

She with her husband and three children were in the big city for several days and with that family of well developed appetites they had been eating about the city in the moderate priced restaurants but on the final day they thought they would take their last meal in the city at a fashionable cafe.

They went in and the head waiter gave the interesting group a conspicuous table right in the midst of the other diners there. But a glance at the right side of the menu card took their breath. With such simple things as bread and milk or cereals at sixty to seventy-cents a serving and with other things in proportion that family—which had had its naturally good appetites honed to a razor edge by the sea breezes—saw that even a simple meal, with no juicy steaks or anything of that kind would cost not less than nine to ten dollars in that place of ridiculous prices

The father looked at the mother and she looked at him. "What shall we do," said Adam, placing the burden on Eve, as usual.

"Beat it," promptly said this woman, who should found the "Order of Fearless Americans," and they did fasion the usually fearsome head waiter calmly as they walked out with the simple explanation that it was evident that that restaurant was no place to which to bring a family.

VACATION.

Everybody needs a vacation every yeer and would be glad to get one every munth.

Summer is divided into the people that go away and the people that stay home and get postal cards from the people that go away. This proves how easy we can share our blessings if we only have a little consideration.

Vacation is divided into the country, the sea shore and the mountains, depending partly on ware you wunt to go and partly on ware your relations live

Some of the idvantages of the country are the air, the chickins laying fresh eggs wile you wate, and grass growing everyware and flowers some places, wile on the other hand the sea shore has jest as mutch air and is bounded on one side by the ocean, while on the other hand the mountains have even more air and are mutch steeper, being a good thing in case you like to clime and a bad thing in case you dont.

Jest because people come back from their vacation all sunbernt everybody thinks they had a good time weather they did or not. This proves hewty is ony skin deep but thats all the deeper its genrelly necessary.

The werst thing it can do on your vacation is rain. If you have a bum time on your vacation it makes you glad to get back agen, proving theres no place like home if you cant injoy yourself enywares elts.

MILK DELIVERED NOW BY RADIO!

Rochester, N. Y. — Milk can be delivered by radio!

Howard E. Richardson, 15-year-old radio amateur, says so, and he can conduct experiments to prove it. In fact, he claims he has already accomplished this remarkable feat.

Doubt and ridicule met young Richardson's first announcement that he could transport milk by radio. But the boy repeated his assertion and, in the presence of seven witnesses performed his experiment for the second time.

At first, Richardson says he succeeded in receiving a quantity of milk by radio from Brooklyn, 260 miles away! Then, at a "public demonstration," he made another "delivery" on a smaller scale.

All who saw Richardson perform this wonder say there is no trick to it. In their presence he actually sent a quantity of milk over a distance of 20 feet by radio.

This is how Richardson explains the process:

"The milk is passed through a vacuum and the spark going through the vacuum unites the atoms of the milk with the electrons and is carried out in the form of an electric current. This applies to the sending of the milk.

"The milk is received in the form of an ordinary message and in place of the phones I use a condenser. When the condenser is filled to capacity it discharges. Atoms discharge easier than the electrons, and therefore the atoms discharge and form the milk."

A fantastic magazine article started Richardson on his milk experiment. The young amateur read an imaginative yarn centered about the delivery of milk by radio.

Richardson saw the actual possibility in it and went to work. He conducted his experiments in a building behind his home. After several weeks of experimenting he succeeded in finding the key to the problem.

HOWARD E. RICHARDSON.

IF YOU HAVEN'T AN AERIAL, PUT UP A CLOTHESLINE

If you live in an apartment house and the landlord won't permit you to put up an aerial, here's a way to fool him:

Buy a clothesline aerial

It's a string of antenna wire camouflaged as a clothesline.

But it is just as useful to mother for hanging out the wash as it can be to you for receiving radio messages.

Every radio enthusiast knows that antenna wires need not be bare to catch the high frequency waves These electric oscillations will enter the wire even through an insulation So the cord around the antenna of the clothes line type is no hindrance to the reception of radio messages

All that is needed is to attach a lead-in from the clothesline to the receiving set The lead-in, also, may be part of the camouflaged clothesline.

LOCAL RADIO NOTES

Dr. Claude Postlewait received some very good music from the Atlanta Journal and the Detroit Free Press Friday evening. Dr. Postlewait uses the city lighting circuits for antenna and ground Of course a condenser is used in the circuit. Using the lighting system in this way serves as a loop antenna. It was with this arrangement that he heard the Journal and the Free Press

The radio phone broadcasting station of the Central Radio Service has been broadcasting the markets and stock reports daily along with some Phonograph records. According to reports that are being received these broadcasts are covering all of Central Illinois.

Message traffic on the St. Louis-Chicago traffic route is picking up somewhat, again. Fay Sadorus 9DHZ seems to be the busiest station on the route outside of Chicago stations. A relay station in southern Illinois is wanted. Please write Review Radio Editor. We would also be glad to hear from some stations in southern Illinois.

The Atlanta Journal broadcasts programs between the hours of 7:30 and 10.00 C. S T on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, and special concerts on Tuesday, Thursdays and Saturdays.

All broadcasting stations are planning elaborate programs for the fall and winter. Many new stations will be in operation then. We hope that the plans are carried out in full.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Question. I have not been able to hear KDKA and WJZ for some time. Can you explain the reason for this?

Answer. This is because of the summer atmospherics. Do not think it is the fault of the outfit you have, it is merely the poor summer atmosphere which is very poor for radio reception.

Question At what time does WCAP broadcast the market and stock reports?

Answer. WCAP broadcasts the market and stock reports starting at 8.30 a. m. each half hour until the "close" at 1:15 p. m Question. Last Saturday I heard WCAP broadcasting markets and Phonograph music. I used a crystal detector for the reception. Is this unusual? A subscriber, Champaign.

Answer Yes it is very unusual to receive signals this far on a crystal.

CAMPER TELLS INTERESTING STORY

O. L. Jones Met Champion Hard Luck Sufferer in St. Louis.

O. L. Jones and his mother of Los Angeles, Cal., were the only tourists to stop at the Fairview camp ground Monday evening but Mr Jones' power of observation and his conversational abilities made him more interesting than a dozen campers of the ordinary type

Mr. Jones and his mother spent some time in the Sierra Nevada mountains where they found excellent fishing. The snow was still piled in drifts ten or twelve feet high.

SNOWED IN.

They met one man who lived in a cabin near Convict lake who had been snowed in and had not seen a human being for over four months. It was not until in the spring that it was possible for him to travel to the outside world.

BUYS BOAT THEN AUTO

In the camp grounds at St. Louis, Mr. Jones met a young man who had inherited a sum of money from his uncle who had died The young man invested his money in a power boat, but as this means of locomotion was not speedy enough he traded off the boat for an automobile and $1,500 to boot.

"HARD LUCK"

He enjoyed his automobile very much, but after a while his funds reached a low stage and he had to sell the automobile to get money to live on. Soon the man was without any funds at all. He was visiting the tourist camps, and telling his hard luck tale in order to get something to eat When he talked it was impossible to keep from believing that he was the most unfortunate person in the world, according to Mr. Jones.

Mr Jones and his mother will go to New York where they will stay for several months They will return to California in the late autumn.

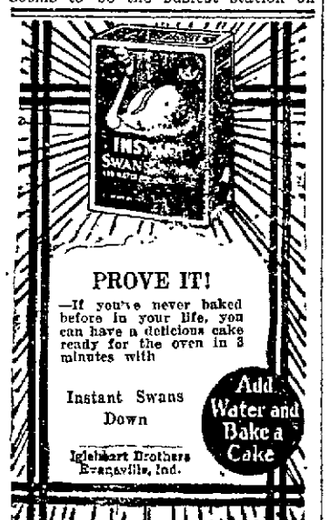

WORKING ON HARD ROAD IN BEMENT

Bement, July 25—The State Aid road through Bement is expected to reach the Wabash tracks Tuesday. The work in town does not progress so rapidly as it does on the roads outside. One week the average length of road completed was 867 feet a day. That was the best record.

F. H. Cloyd is at home from Chicago for a week.

Will Dye, after receiving his discharge from the U. S Navy visited his parents last week until Friday when he went to Edwardsville to work.

Miss Frances Tenney is at home from Chicago to pass the remainder of the vacation.

The TATTOOED ARM

"Wells is an old fool!" Andrew continued. "I say, there is nothing any of us can do for Roger; he'll sleep like a baby tonight and be all right in the morning. I'm going out and I shan't be back until late but I'll take my key and I won't disturb you if you'll tell Carter not to put the chain on the door."

He strode heavily from the room and in another moment Miss Drake and Hobart followed.

"It's work for nothing to set the table for them; they don't hardly touch a thing!" Carter mourned, as he and Miles cleared away the final debris of the meal. "I'm sure I don't know what's come to this house, nor where it's going to end!"

"What's there to be scared of?" Miles asked stoutly. "I've seen nothing barring that fainting spell of Mr. Roger's today. Is he often took like that?"

Carter shook his head.

"Only once before and that was just a day or two after—after the constable brought Mr. Hobart home when he'd been walking in his sleep. —That's what you heard, ain't it, William?" He asked the question with almost pathetic eagerness.

"No," William replied bluntly. "If you want the truth I heard he was either drunk or crazy!"

"Not a thing had he touched that night, for I had the only set of keys to the wine cellar!" Carter asserted solemnly. "I've yet to see Mr. Hobart in liquor but I can't say as much for Mr. Andrew! Mr. Andrew was a trial to the rest of the family when he came back, though he's toned down considerable, especially in his language. It was shocking to hear, William!"

"I shouldn't be surprised," Miles observed. "Did he bring those fits back with him, too, from Australia?"

"You mean what happened last Monday?" Carter lowered his voice. "If you want to know my opinion from what I could get out of Edward I think Mr. Andrew was shamming, though the Lord only knows why!"

Miles glanced sharply at the old man but his tone was casual as he remarked:

"He was playing a trick on Edward, maybe, but there was no fake about Mr. Roger's faint today."

"No, and as for Mr. Hobart, I'm glad he's given up the stock market before— before he lost everything, though sometimes I've wished that the money never came in the first place! It was that made all three of them act queer long ago, and though I almost forgot about it in the years between, perhaps they've been wrong in the head ever since."

"How do you mean they acted queer when they came into their money?" asked Miles.

"I remember when the news came and though they were excited it struck me then that not one of them seemed really happy about it or even surprised. Mr. Hobart seemed to think only of getting back at other folks for all the years of hardship they'd been through; getting rich by making other folks poor! It gave me the shivers to hear him. You should have thought that there was a death in the house!" continued Carter. "They didn't talk to each other any more'n they had to, didn't scarcely look at each other and it seemed as though there was almost hatred between them! Mr. Andrew had ugly fits of temper that he'd never showed before and other times Mr. Roger would break down and go all to pieces right out of a clear sky; only Mr. Hobart kept a level head on his shoulders and all at once I noticed that the hair at each side of his forehead was turning gray—and him only 23! But quiet years came after, and comfortable ones, and I forget until this trouble now brought it all back to me."

CHAPTER XIV

LIKE two housebreakers, Sergeant Miles and Scottie stole up the back stairs that night and halted before the door at the end of the hall.

As he drew the skeleton keys from his pocket Miles indicated the traces of wax which still adhered to the lock, then whispered: "Andrew! He wanted to get in here mighty bad, didn't he?"

Scottie nodded, not trusting himself to speak, and his companion oiled the lock and key-hole carefully before setting to work. He made no noise but the minutes dragged out interminably while the other watched and listened tensely for a possible interruption. The key clicked faintly in the lock and the door swung slowly inward.

"Wait till I close the door," Miles commanded; then as a tiny light gleamed out: "Good! There's a bolt on the inside and we can't be surprised. Andrew may come home at any time and I have a hunch that he'll try to finish then what he started this afternoon."

"It looks as though he'd made a pretty thorough job of it if destruction was his object," Scottie commented dryly as the rapier-like thrust of light played about the dense blackness of the room. "May the de'il take us if we're not in a museum!"

They were in a huge, low-ceilinged room which had evidently been long unused for human occupancy. On the left trunks and packing cases of all shapes and sizes were heaped pell-mell with broken hasps. From their depths a heterogeneous mass of relics and manuscripts had been scattered in all directions.

Haughty, though fragmentary idols and humble cooking pots, fearsome weapons, bits of crumbled carving, and among them all roll after roll of ancient parchment together with notebooks of a more modern day.

Scottie approached a long, metal-lined box and after one glance within promptly retreated.

"It's a mummy." Miles gazed briefly down at the small, tightly swathed form and then turned indifferently away. "If Andrew found what he was looking for this afternoon, we are wasting our time, but I don't think he was successful Those note-books must contain the result of years of study and classification and see how the pages are torn out and scattered about!"

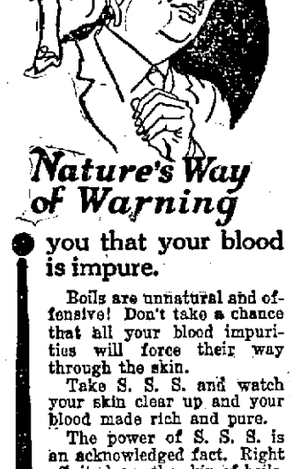

"Then it was writing that Andrew was after, and modern writing at that, for he's only thrown the parchments aside!" Scottie gathered up a handful of the loose sheets and examined them critically.

"But what was he looking for? That's what we've got to find out. What would Roger have written and carted all around the world with him that his brother would want badly enough to steal? Mr. Wells told me that the three brothers were devotedly attached to each other, but I have seen small evidence of affection on Andrew's part for any of them."

"Do you see all these odd caskets of metal and carved bone?" Scottie was playing his torch over the ancient relics which littered the floor. "Perhaps we can find one of two that hasn't been broken open."

It was long past midnight when they desisted at last and Miles remarked with a shrug:

"I guess we'd better give it up,

"IT'S THE ONE PLACE WE NEVER THOUGHT OF, SCOTTIE!"

old man. If there was anything here bearing on our problem Andrew must have made off with it, after all."

Scottie suppressed a sneeze heroically as the dust which still floated in the air assailed his nostrils, and replied in a strangled voice:

"The mould of the ages is eating into my lungs and there's a musty, spicy reek from that mummy—"

"The mummy!" Miles struck his hands together softly. "It's the one place we never thought of, Scottie! We're not beaten yet!"

He darted over to the long, coffin-like case and his companion followed somewhat reluctantly.

"The— the person doesn't appear to have been disturbed since the Pyramids were built," he ventured. "What are you about lad? You're never going to undress it!"

"It's Peruvian, not Egyptian; don't you see the inscription?" responded Miles in a quick, excited whisper. "Moreover, the wrappings about the head and breast have been unwound within a very few years at most and then replaced!"

Miles inserted his hand with infinite care beneath the displaced fabric which covered the shrunken, flint-like breast and drew forth a slender roll of parchment. Scottie hastily returned his unwelcome burden to its original position and strode around the case to stare over his friend's shoulder at the discovery.

"It's in figure writing!" he exclaimed. "You'd never be able to read it and it would do you no good if you did! I've no doubt it's a prayer. Put it back, Owen, it's defying Providence—"

"Defying your grandmother!" Miles interrupted. "This message is in Egyptian hieroglyphics, Scottie, I know that much!—Egyptian picture writing in the wrappings of a Peruvian mummy!— Get me a piece of that parchment from the floor, will you?"

Scottie complied and held both his torch and that of his companion while the latter compared the texture of the scrolls. At length he drew a quick breath and faced the older man with shining eyes.

"I can't read a word of it as you say, but by the Lord Harry I think we've got it! There are professors in town who can decipher it for us and be depended upon to hold their tongues afterward, and we'll see that it reaches one of them tomorrow!

"But it can't be what Andrew was looking for!" Scottie expostulated. "He certainly cannot translate heiro —what you said!"

"Nor would he have known that it was what he wanted if he had found it!" retorted Miles. "Can't you see, old man? That was the intention of the person who placed it there. It is something that had to be preserved and yet must be undecipherable to anyone not a student of Egyptology."

Miles stowed papyrus and parchment carefully in his pocket.

Switching off their torches they stole from the room, but as Miles relocked the door behind them his companion seized his arm.

"Do you hear that?" Scottie's husky whisper breathed in his ear. "Someone's up, and there's a wee streak of light coming from that room at the front. Whose is it?"

"Hobart's," whispered Miles in reply. "Flatten yourself against the wall and walk as lightly as you can; we're going to look into this!"

Foot by foot they crept along the hall until they neared Hobart's door, and then halted as though transfixed, for the voice of Miss Drake, trembling and charged with long pent-up emotion, came to the listener's ears.

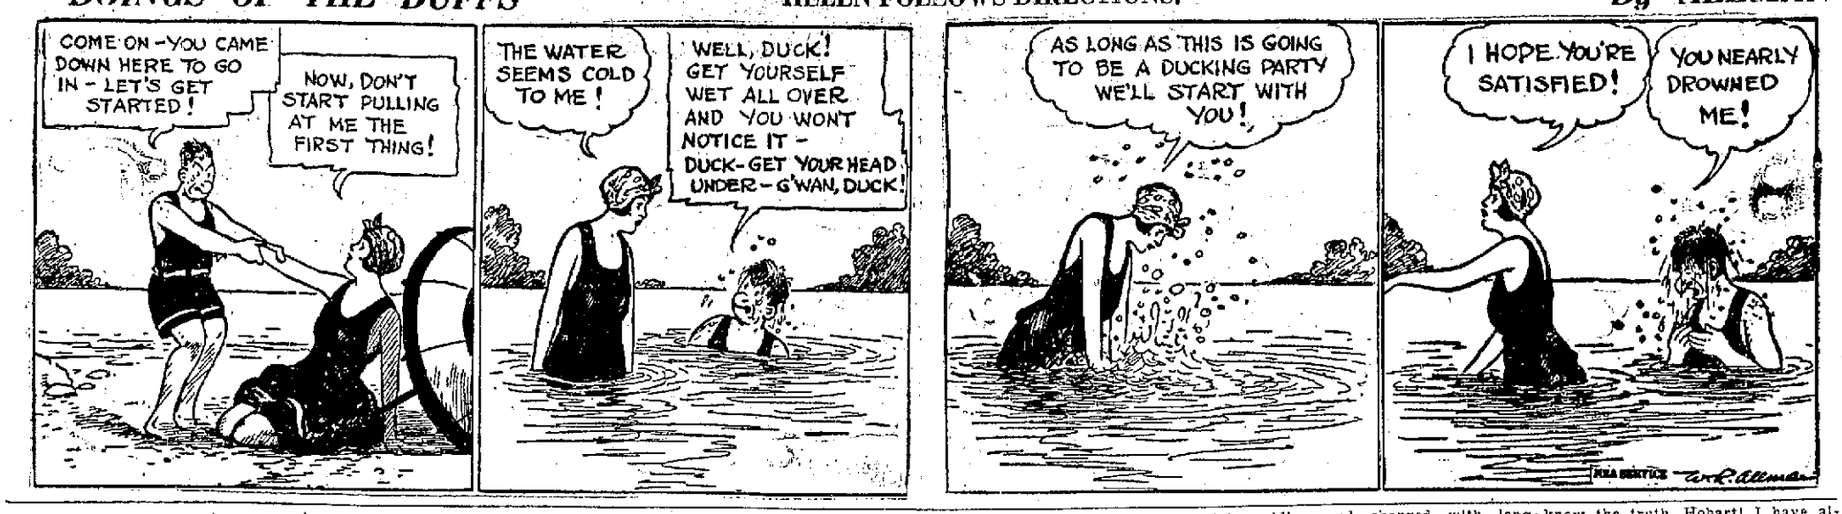

"It is no use! If we were the only ones concerned I would have kept this from you but it shall not be visited upon the next generation! I know the truth, Hobart! I have always known!"

Commies Take Measure of Tough Mr. Conkwright

Applegate Hurls Steady Game, and Decatur Wins, 6 to 3 Combat From Evansville.

Evansville, Ind., July 25.—Decatur demonstrated here Monday that Mr. Conkwright held no terrors, proving it with ten blows, which coupled with good base running and able fielding, netted a 6 to 3 victory for the visiting team.

The Evas were only dangerous in the fourth frame when they bunched two singles and a triple with a walk to score three runs off Applegate. At all other times the Decatur hurler was in fine fettle and had things well in hand.

MILAN STARTS THINGS.

Milan, Decatur's new outfielder, paved the way for the first Commy run in the second inning. He scratched a hit to Grant. He stole second and went to third on Lothes' wild peg to catch him at the keystone sack. He scored on Ganzel's error.

In the third Decatur scored three runs. Novak tripled and scored on Abel Applegate's single. Brausen singled and Strain scored them both with a deep single.

EVAS SCORE THREE.

In the fourth Evansville scored three runs and got into the ball game. Nee singled. Ganzel walked. Collins singled, scoring Nee. Doane's triple scored both Ganzel and Collins.

The Commies scored a run in the eighth when Brausen got a life on Grant's error. He stole second and went to third on Runser's single and scored on Strain's infield out.

Milan again took a hand in the scoring in the ninth. He singled through the box, went to second on a sacrifice and scored on Novak's single.

HIS WORK FEATURES.

Milan had a nice day both afield and at bat. He took five chances in left field without a bobble and at bat connected with two in four trips and also scored two runs. He further demonstrated his speed on the bases.

Novak also had a good day at bat, while Runser played a steady game at short, taking two hard chances for outs at first.

Battle 11 Frames to Defeat Danville.

Terre Haute, Ind., July 25—After tieing the count in the eighth inning by sending across three runs, Terre Haute won the third game from Danville, 8 to 7, in eleven innings when Hollocher's hit bounded over Danaher's head to score Campbell from second. The Coals used four pitchers and the Vets two but all of them were hit fairly hard.

Peoria, July 25—Those Bloomer slug sticks are still missing. The visitors were helpless again Monday and could not deliver with men on the sacks, Peoria winning, 3 to 1. Jay Swigart was touched up in nearly every inning, but the eight singles were detached and inability to clout with men on cost the Sykesmen the third straight.

FOR THE GAME'S SAKE

BY LAWRENCE PERRY

Americans who saw the recent all-comers' tennis matches at Wimbledon speak of a change in the demeanor, if not in the character of the English tennis crowd. One gathers, that Wimbledon saw this year a curious departure from that attitude of fair-mindedness and scientific interest which in the past, both in this country and England, set up the great mass of devotees of tennis as an example in proper behavior at sporting contests.

ANGERED AT APPLAUSE.

Looking back it may be recalled that Norman E. Brookes, the great Australian player, took exception to applause bestowed upon his rival, Maurice McLoughlin, when the two were playing in the Davis cup matches at Forest Hills, but it has always been debatable whether Brookes was justified in his approval.

At all events, while enthusiasm over some of the Comet's scintilla shots may have been overdone, at least no one thought of applauding when Brookes made an error.

WOMEN OFFENDERS.

Yet this is precisely what the Wimbledon crowd—or, to be fair, certain elements of the crowd at Wimbledon did. This was chiefly noticeable when Suzanne Lenglen was playing Miss McKane and Miss Ryan. Women are held to have been the chief offenders, women who had been lured to Wimbledon not through any particular love or understanding of lawn tennis but because tennis week has become a vogue, a screen which provides adequate opportunity for the display of summer styles.

DEVELOP DISLIKES.

Actual tennis bores them but they quickly develop dislikes, the subjects usually being players from foreign countries, and their keenest interest lies in rooting for their defeat. Nothing much has been said about it but the fact remains that when William Tilden played at Wimbledon last year he got a taste of national narrowness, not, be it understood, from the great bulk of tennis lovers who watched him play, but from a minority sufficiently large to make itself felt. Public opinion, which is very influential in England, may be relied upon effectively to deal with this.

It is pretty safe to say that this problem does not exist in America. Certainly it does not exist at Forest Hills on days of great matches. There the crowd is ideal in what may be termed observation temperament and so at Germantown. At Newport the great problem is to induce the spectators in the boxes at the Casino to refrain from laughter and social amenities while players are in action on the courts in front of them; but this is the reverse side of the situation.

THE SPORTSMAN

BY WALTER CAMP.

Tilden's winning of the Longwood bowl will not be regarded by discerning persons as so important as the assurances his condition gives of carrying him through the season at top form. With Johnston developing just a bit of reserve surplus flesh, the chances for our success in the Davis cup contests are bright, even granting that the Australians appear more formidable than at any time in their recent past.

THAT MAGNETISM.

Gleason's success with the White Sox causes wonder as to just what it is that makes a baseball manager successful. No one can tell us. Not even the successful managers themselves. They all have different methods, of course, but one may suspect that lying deep within all is that common quality of magnetism so essential to leaders of men.

CHOOSE CREW SEAT.

The choice of a popular sport is an individual matter and sometimes elements not altogether related to unbiased judgment prevail in causing an athlete quality good at two sports to favor one over the other. In the case of Ladd of Harvard, who has decided to abandon football and devote himself to the crew which he has been elected captain for 1923, there is involved the choice of a great task as opposed to one that appears simpler.

Harvard for two years running has lost to Yale in rowing, but in football has swung along on top.

WILL BE MISSED.

By reversing the crew fortunes of his university Ladd could gain great prestige and at the same time have the satisfaction of having performed a great work, whereas in football there is no great cause lying ahead. Ladd, however, is a fine tackle and he will be missed by the Crimson coaches.

SPORT BRIEFS.

Boston—Johnny Withon and his manager, Marty Killilea, were reinstated by the state boxing commission.

Cleveland.—Mayor Kohler refused a permit for the proposed Johnny Kilbane-Pepper Martin bout, and said the New York boxing commission had "made a joke of the game."

Philadelphia. — Bobby Barrett, light weight, won a popular decision over Joe Welling in an eight round bound.

Cincinnati.—In a loosely played seven inning exhibition game Monday the Reds defeated the Yankees 5 to 3. Ruth hit a home run in the sixth inning.

I. T. S. SWAMPS BRASS WORKS 11-3

Rushing Allows Six Hits and Gets Three.

The I. T. S. team pounded out eleven hits for eleven runs, defeating the Brass Workers in the Commercial league Monday evening at Torrence park 11 to 3. Molenda was wild issuing six passes. Rushing allowed but six hits and got three hits himself out of four times at bat.

BOXING NEWS.

BY FAIR PLAY.

New York, July 25.—Looking at the approaching Leonard-Tendler fight from every angle, studying the work of the men in an effort to figure what they intend to do, and observing their methods of training and conditioning, the writer has come to the conclusion that Thursday night's battle in Boyle's Thirty Acres at Jersey City is to be a real hefty affair. Not from what the two boys say, but more particular from the way they act, it seems clear that the champion has a better idea what he is going to than Tendler.

GREAT THINKER.

Leonard is a thinking fighter. To give you an idea of the sort of lad he is, after he had injured his hand he took a course of study under an osteopath as to just how the human hand is constructed, the way the bones join, their relative size and so on.

Equipped with this knowledge Benny has been treating his fists very scientifically both as to bandages and as to use in his training. In the same way he has studied Tendler and outlined a plan of battle designed to meet Lew's peculiarities and weaknesses.

NO QUICK K. O.

The writer does not think that Leonard will go into the ring looking for a quick knockout. In fact it would seem that he will let that idea rest in the background to be brought forward if opportunity permits. But mainly it will be surprising if he does not start from the very first round to pick his man to pieces, using both hands to this end, but mainly his right.

They say that Benny is slowing up in his foot work. Bunk. He is as shifty as ever he was. And everybody knows what a sharpshooter he is with either left or right. Seldom when he is really intent upon his work does he let go a wallop without knowing just where it is going.

He is a better boxer than Tendler, more scientific. He has more methods of offense.

BRILLIANT FIELD IN WESTERN OPEN

[By the Associated Press]

Chicago, July 25 — Virtually the same golfers from whom Gene Sarazen of Pittsburgh recently won the national open championship at Skokie will compete in the western open tournament at Detroit, August 23 to 25 it was announced today by Secretary W. W. Harless of the western golf association, who sent formal notices of the meet.

The contest will be played on the links of the Oakland Hills country club, said to be one of the finest tests of golf in the country. The tourney is open to all professionals and amateurs in the world.

REPORT RIGSBY WILL FILL BRANT'S PLACE

Rockford, Ill., July 25. — Harry Brant is to resign as manager of the Rockford Three Eyes league club, according to a report here, and Harry Rigsby, catcher, is under consideration as his successor. George Le Beau, with Rockford last season and with the Marquette Manors of Chicago, and Pitcher Walter Halas of South Bend, has been asked to report here.

Ruth's Slump Causing Huggins No End of Worry

Home Run King Lacking Class of 1921—Evidently Weakened By Late Start.

BY JOHN B. FOSTER.

New York, July 25.—Ruth has lost the power of co-ordination for the moment. Perhaps it is a permanent loss. The owners of the Yankees hope not. If it is, they have a hard row ahead of them for the championship. They showed that when they made a trade that put another outfielder on the team.

They went after a third baseman also because they were too weak at third to stand a challenge from St. Louis, Detroit, Chicago and Cleveland in a lump because these are the odds they have to face since each of those western teams is not without championship possibilities, however remote they may be. The west in the American league is the big item. The east except New York has been outplayed. Nothing short of a miracle can keep it from remaining outplayed.

NOT TIMING BALL.

Ruth is not timing the ball as he did in 1921. It wasn't his furious swing that was wholly the reason why he was a champion hitter. It wasn't the fact that his were the strongest arms of any batter that ever played ball that he piled up fifty home runs because stronger men than he fell short of fifteen in a season. It was because his vision and his muscular effort were simultaneous.

He was the best timer of pitched ball of any batter in either major league.

NOW DISORDINATION.

That was co-ordination and it has given way to disordination.

He hit the ball in the center in 1921. If experienced in batting you could sit with your eyes shut and tell when he had made a home run by the spat on the bat. This year he is hitting over the ball, ahead of the ball and to one side of the ball.

He knows the pitchers are pitching to him and his early non-success which followed the lack of spring work and spring training has worked upon him until he has lost the assurance that he had. The sentence of the judge that he remain out of the game until the middle of May has fallen heavily upon him.

UNFRIENDLY WORLD.

He has not changed his position at the bat nor does he change it. He slams at the ball from a fixed stance. He is thinking not "where will I hit" but "can I hit?" He is resentful of the fickle mob that cheered and fairly cried in jubilant joy in 1921 and now boos and jeers when he fails to hit. The boyish and genial smile that illuminated his face last year seldom is seen. He has found the world against him and faces it half grim, half appealing for when he looks into the stand he looks for a friendly face instead of a scowl and a sarcastic grin.

DEMPSEY TO MEET BILL BRENNAN

Buffalo, N. Y., July 25.—Floyd Fitzsimmons, Michigan City promoter, announced Monday night that he had matched Jack Dempsey to fight Bill Brennan for the world's heavyweight championship in the Michigan City arena on Labor day.

Dempsey boxed an exhibition bout of four rounds tonight with Jim Darcy, New York light-heavy-weight and won the judge's decision.

SULLIVAN WINS FROM MATTOON

Sullivan, July 25.—The heavy hitting of Fuller of Mattoon, who connected for a home run and a triple, and of Tabor, of Sullivan who drove the apple almost into the lake for a circuit smash, were the features of the 9 to 4 victory of the Sullivan Merchants over the Mattoon American Legion nine on the local diamond Sunday.

The Merchants took an early lead by scoring six runs in the first inning on three hits, two errors and two walks. Carrigan on the mound for the locals pitched good ball. Fuller's home run drive carried the ball clear into the lake, the first time the feat has ever been accomplished.

COFFEEN DEFEATS HERRICK 5 TO 2

Herrick, July 25.—The Coffeen M W. A. nine defeated the Herrick K. of P. team here Sunday by a score of 5 to 2, breaking the Herrick string of twelve straight victories without a single defeat for the season. The heavy artillery of the visitors caused the first loss. Herrick plays the Pana Blues at Pana next Sunday.

DECISION MADE BY COMMITTEE STANDS

Counsel Rules on House Moving Argument.

Under the present house moving ordinance, a committee consisting of the mayor, chief of police and the commissioner of health and safety passes on whether or n a house for which a moving permit has been asked is worth fifty per cent of what a new structure of the same size and character would cost.

CAN'T BE CHANGED.

Under a ruling made by Corporation Counsel Ralph Monroe the decision of this committee must go. It cannot be changed even by the council itself and any house which the committee rules is not worth fifty per cent of a new one cannot be moved.

Commissioner Harry Ruthrauff made a motion that the corporation counsel draw up an ordinance which would give the council power to over-rule the committee. Mayor Borchers suggested that if that is to be done they simply repeal the old ordinance and have the entire council do the inspecting and ruling.

It was finally referred to the council as a committee of the whole.

DIDN'T AGREE.

The discussion arose from the action of the council in regard to the house at 241 West Wood street where two members of the committee reported that the house was not worth fifty per cent and a minority reported that it was worh more than fifty per cent. The council adopted the minority report—hence the reference to the corporation counsel for a ruling. He said that the council could not reverse the committee.

TRUCK DRIVER BLOCKS ROAD

Moweaqua Banker Reports Incident To Motor Club.

H. B. Ayers, president of the Ayers State bank at Moweaqua, writes the Decatur Motor Club that he was wilfully obstructed and the road repeatedly blocked in front of him by one of the trucks of the Hydraulic Sand Company while he was driving out of Decatur Saturday. Just after leaving the Oakland avenue pavement, Mr. Ayers says, he came upon the gravel truck. He sounded his horn and attempted to go around the truck but the driver deliberately swung the truck across his path. This was repeated several times, the driver turning in his seat and jeering when the driver of the automobile was blocked. Mr. Ayers says that he recognizes the fact that motor trucks have rights on the road but believes that they should respect the rights of other people. He asks what action he may be able to take in the matter.

WROTE COMPANY.

A copy of the letter was sent by the Motor Club to the Hydraulic Sand Company on the assumption that they will not countenance such behavior on the part of one of their drivers. There is probably no law which punishes a truck driver from being a road hog but if the employers of this man do not break him of that little habit another means will be found of reaching him.

THE OLD HOME TOWN By Stanley

THIS GRAVE STORY GREW SO BIG THAT IT BURST

"How many extra papers do you want this evening?"

The query was from a Springfield newspaper to the agent in Mechanicsburg.

"Why should we need any extra papers?" asked the agent.

"Why, don't you know that three graves have been found at Dawson where coal miners had attempted to bury some of their victims but were discovered and frightened away?"

The agent didn't know but a Decatur newspaperman who had heard half of the telephone dialog, flipped into his fliver and flew for Dawons. He didn't have a bit of trouble finding the graves some distance out of Dawson for hundreds of automobiles had worn a path to the place.

WERE THERE ALL RIGHT.

The graves were there all right, at the roadside between the hedge fence and the side ditch of the road. They were in a line, the extreme about eight feet apart and the third hole about half way between. They might have been made by some one digging bait or may be some one found some wild flower that he wanted to take home and transplant. The holes were roughly round. The largest one was twelve or fourteen inches deep and big enough to bury a peck measure. The others were smaller.

STORY GREW.

There were various embellishments of the story in Dawson. One version was that the man digging the holes had dropped their spades and ran away when discovered. None of the versions permitted the story to shrink in the least and people from all the surrounding country had gone to see those graves.

The Springfield circulation man had assured his agents that something big was sure to break before night. And it did. The grave story blew up and vanished into thin air.

PRIVATE AUDIENCE FOR MORGENTHAL

Rome, July 25.—Pope Pius today received in private audience Henry Morgenthal, former ambassador to Turwey, and had a long conversation with him about his experiences at Constantinople during the early days of the war.

—CAMP SANGAMO—

STAGE CARNIVAL.

Camp Sangamo, July 25—A midway with six big show attractions, fireworks over the lake, and an ice cream feast for the finale were features of the Mardi Gras carnival which the Boy Scouts in camp at Camp Sangamo staged Monday evening. Although the carnival was a camp affair only, a few visitors were out during the evening and enjoyed themselves as much as the Scouts.

The entertainment was the last big one that the scouts of the present period will enjoy while at camp. A new period will open Wednesday and Monday evening's event was a sort of farewell celebration. Also, it closed their track meet of the afternoon, the afternoon and evening program working into each other nicely.

MIDWAY.

The boys fixed up their midway in the avenue between the two rows of tents, electric lighted, and used six tents for the "Big Top." In them were to be found all of the attractions of a regular carnival, from fortune telling to "Hula Hula" dancing.

FIREWORKS DISPLAY.

The climax of the evening came with the big fireworks display on the shore of Clear Lake, in which were used all the fireworks left over from the Fourth of July celebration—more, in fact, than were used that day. They were very pretty as reflected in the water and against the night sky.

The price of admission to the shows was two cents, and all the proceeds went to pay for the ice cream which was served free to the scouts and their guests afterwards. Without exception they voted it a fine time, "actors" managers, directors and spectators, and gave a vote of thanks to Camp Director L. F. Kinister who arranged it with the assistance of the scouts.

HIKE AND PICNIC.

Yesterday morning all the scouts in camp, both Springfield and Decatur boys, hiked over to the Sangamon river and enjoyed a picnic dinner, a feature of which was one hundred packages of potato chips donated by a Decatur firm.

A new camp period of two weeks open Wednesday and is open this time to boys who are not members of the organization but who expect to become scouts next winter. The camp wishes to have at least ninety boys this period, fifty from Springfield and forty from Decatur.

The camp will gladly receive donations of photograph records. There are two phonographs in camp and a number of records, but ninety boys soon play this repertoire through.

The Screen

When Charlie Chaplin returned from Europe he told me that Pola Negri had the most magnetic personality of all the women he met in Europe.

European correspondents, write, that no other European actress of this generation except the Divine Bernhardt has so commanding a presence.

Negri is now studying English assiduously, for she is coming to America in the latter part of August to appear in pictures to be filmed at the Long Island studios of Paramount.

The story for her first picture to be filmed in America was written by a famous British dramatist.

Pola Negri's life story is further evidence that genius is not a matter only of native talent. Fame has been hers at the end of ceaseless work, the result of plodding and plugging away many long hours to achieve an ambition.

Her story, too, is another sermon on a mother's devotion and sacrifice for a child.

Arthur Rankin, who will appear in "To Have and to Hold" possesses the greatest theatrical lineage of any youth in America—son of Harry Davenport and Phyllis Rankin, grandson of McKee Rankin and nephew of John Drew, Lionel, Ethel and John Barrymore.

Mild as a May Morning—and as fragrant
Nothing but Havana of exceptional selection could give such fragrance to a cigar so mild as Mozart. Here is a cigar that is truly mild, but one you will never find "flat". Even its larger sizes, so perfectly formed, are a "light" smoke.

STOCKS HAVE STEADY TONE

Position Said to Reflect Belief That Strike Peace Is Near.

BY STUART P. WEST.

Wall Street, New York, July 25.—The stock market developed a firm undertone today. The sturdy position of Studebaker, Chandler, U. S Steel and Mexican Petroleum, quite different from their weakness on Monday, seemed to reflect the market's belief that better conditions in the railroad strike would follow the forthcoming plan of President Harding to keep trains moving.

Short sellers found few stocks coming out when they tried to force a fresh reaction early in the day. The street placed credence in a rumor that within a few hours, possibly at midnight the federal program for apportioning rolling stock throughout the country would become effective. While it was not altogether clear that such a step would relieve the situation at once, and hasten a settlement of the shopmen's strike, still taken in conjunction with news from individual roads it looked as though events might move more rapidly toward an adjustment.

TONE CHANGES

The tone of the market changed somewhat abruptly after Mexican Petroleum with a decline of 1¼ points to 160 and other active issues had receded fractional distances from opening sales. Short sellers of Monday evidently saw that the temper of the market had become altered over night and they were quick to cover their open contracts.

The market was highly nervous however, as evidenced by swings of Studebaker between 130 and 133¼. Trading uncertainty was centered chiefly in the industrial list, for the rails under leadership of New York Central retained the same calm and confident attitude that has marked this group all along.

GOOD STATEMENT

The morning advance of 1½ points by New York Central could be credited to the excellent statement of the road for June but current earnings were of less account in supporting the rails than the expectation that once the strikes were over, traffic would expand. Union Pacific held up very firmly, although its net operating income in June was $652,000 less than for the same month last year.

BONDS INDIFFERENT.

Bonds again proved indifferent to developments outside the money market with fresh gains in the Liberty group and a generally firm tone elsewhere. The renewal of standing call loans at four per cent was quite in keeping with the known facts of the money supply, which forecast continued ease. The weakening of the bullish position in cotton during the last few days was emphasized by the fall of more than fifty points in future options in the cotton market. Conflicting weather news from the crop belt has slowed down speculation for the long account. This is a season when boll weevil damage is discussed widely frequently in an exaggerated fashion and the market outlook is difficult to determine in a single day's movement.

Detroit, July 25—Candy manufacturers here say the hard candies and gumdrops are in big demand and the outlook for business this fall is the best in several years.

SHORTS FURNISH MARKET UP-TURN

New York, July 25—The market turned upward on short coverings before the end of the first hour. Steels, equipments, motors, coppers and food and chemical specialties were the active features. Republic, Crucible and Gulf States Steels, rose one to 2½ points American and Baldwin Locomotives gained 1 to 1½ and Studebaker and Chandler recovered much of yesterday's losses. American Smelting, American Sugar, Allied Chemical and Industrial Alcohol advanced 1 to 2 points. Rails also strengthened, especially Atchison, Baltimore and Ohio, Cheseapeake and Ohio and New York Central, but Atlantic Coast line was heavy. Call money opened at four per cent.

The close was strong.

Financial Notes.

New York, July 25—It is understood that earnings of American Steel Foundries for the second quarter of the year ran about 40 per cent over those for the first quarter and brought the total for the half year up to about $1,200,000 or two and a half times for the similar period of 1921. Orders are on hand to run at 80 per cent of capacity for the remainder of the year.

Pressed Steel Car and other equipment companies are reported to be rushed with repair orders as a result of the rail strike and salesmen have been called in owing to the volume of business booked.

STRIKERS WORK AS HARVESTERS

Railroad Men Drift Into Wheat Fields of Northwest.

St Paul, July 25.—Striking railroad men are drifting into the northwestern harvest fields and are expected to decrease materially the shortage of labor which is endangering the proper handling of the excellent crops. Farm labor shortages are reported from Montana, Minnesota and North and South Dakota and Northwestern railroads have asked authority to make a special $5 fare to these sections to attract harvest workers. Some striking coal miners have responded to labor calls from Montana.

Twin-city wholesale and retail merchants express confidence that improved trade will develop from the crop situation but right now business is quiet in many lines. Freight embargoes resulting from the rail strike have begun to retard shipments through this gateway. Until a few days ago, however, freight traffic was exceptionally heavy, the weekly tonnage totals running far ahead of those for the corresponding period of last year.

HOLDS UP WELL.

Pittsburgh, July 25. — Although troops are patrolling the district and fuel supplies are reduced to a minimum by the railroad and coal strikes, industrial production in this territory, aside from the coal output, is holding up remarkably well. The community, however, is feeling the burden of the strikes and fears in roads up production in the immediate future.

Iron and steel plants in the immediate Pittsburgh district have fared better than those in other sections in the matter of fuel supplies. Fortunately the steel industry had the rivers to depend on. For the first time in history, coal is being hauled up stream to this section, and river shipments both in and out have enabled the great Carnegie plants, the Jones and Laughlin mills and others to maintain distribution. These facts are being urged in an effort to secure further river improvement and the building of canals

BAROMETER GAINS.

Detroit, July 25.—The employment barometer here has registered a gain of 200 men in the last week, showing no evidence of the seasonal slowing down in automobile manufacture. The majority of the manufacturing plants here expect to run fairly steadily from now until cold weather. They base their prediction on the orders now in hand.

AT RECORD FIGURE.

Seattle, July 25.—Retail merchandising activities continued to hold at about midsummer record figures. This is attributed largely to the unprecedented warm weather and to the fact that unemployment has practically disappeared The retail stores will enter the fall trade with short stocks. There is a shortage of skilled labor in the building trades. Common labor is in fairly good supply but a premium is being paid to lathers, plasterers and bricklayers The outlook for the fall is that this scarcity of skilled labor will continue.

DWELLING FEATURES.

Philadelphia, July 25.—A feature of dwelling construction is the small amount of space below street level awarded to cellars. Much of the stone work is above rather than below ground, and this gives opportunity for the construction of garages on the lower floor of dwellings in the space formerly occupied by the cellar.

NO IMPROVEMENT.

London, July 25—There has been no improvement in the shipbuilding situation this month. More tonnage still is being launched than is being laid down. Costs of production are swollen by high labor costs. Shipbuilders hope that by down ward revision of costs they may induce owners to replace vessels now reaching the age when their economic usefulness has passed.

COTTON.

New York, July 25—Although the cotton market made a show of steadiness at the opening today and at one time showed advances of 16 to 18 points over the previous close, the upturn was apparently more a matter of reducing short interests than of any returning bull confidence, and after the first half hour the market began to ease off rapidly. Before mid-day the reaction had developed into a violent break which forced prices off about 26 to 27 points under the previous close It was apparent, from the actions of the market that the bulls have yielded to claims that the crop has made considerable improvement in the last month and is now in better condition than many of the recent private reports have indicated.

DRY GOODS.

New York, July 25—Traders in the dry goods market here appear to be waiting for more definite news of the condition of the raw staple before making extensive commitments. Trading was quiet in the standard print cloths today but prices showed little change There was some bidding in evidence a shade below current quotations but this brought small response.

Export inquiries for a fair quantity of sheetings kept prices firm in those constructions Drills and sateens were in some demand Tire fabrics were dull while trading was done in lawns and poplins

Inactivity in Yokohama was reflected in the raw silk markets with a slightly softer trend except for coarse sizes which continued in demand.

WOOL.

Boston, July 25—There was more discussion of the tariff on wool than trading in that staple on the local wool market today. The finer grades were still in demand and prices were exceptionally firm on those grades The momentary lack of interest in the coarser grades was evidenced by the indifference to the offering of nondescript wools and tag ends by the government for which there were but two bids. The foreign markets were reported firm.

WHEAT CLOSE IS UNSETTLED

September At $1.07 1-2—Corn Exporters Are Inactive.

Chicago, July 25.—Wheat turned upward in price today during the early transaction offerings being limited and the Liverpool market failing to reflect fully yesterday's weakness in America. Talk was current that rural holders had largely stopped selling, and it was pointed out that the amount of wheat afloat for Europe showed a falling off as compared with a week ago.

Commission house and shorts were the chief buyers. The opening which varied from unchanged figures to ⅝c higher, with September $1.07 to $1.08, and December $1.09⅝ to $1.09⅝ was followed by moderate gains all around.

BIDS STRONG.

Shippers said bids for wheat already loaded were strong, but it hard to get an attractive bid on wheat for more deferred shipment. Owing to the rail strike, buyers were reluctant to assume the risk of delay in obtaining delivery. The market closed unsettled at the same as yesterday's finish to 2c higher with September 1.07⅜ to 1.07½ and December 1.09⅜ to 1.09½.

Corn and oats lacked any aggressive support. After opening a shade to ⅝c lower, September 62⅝c, the corn market continued to sag

The bulk of trading consisted of spreading — buying of December against sales of September. Exporters were less active than of late. The close was weak, at ⅛c to 1⅛ net decline with September 62⅜@½ to 62½.

Oats started unchanged to ⅛c higher, September 33⅝c to 33¾c and later underwent a moderate general setback.

Provisions were dull and weak.

GRAIN PRICES ARE UNCHANGED

Hogs Remain High—Poultry Unsettled—Eggs and Butterfat Down.

Grain pricees remained unchanged at local stations Tuesday. The headlong decline of Monday was checked and some strength was shown in wheat but corn was unsteady and the net result of the day was that prices were left at Monday's low level.

Hogs continued their strength and until receipts increase materially they are likely to remain high.

In poultry and dairy products everything was weak and unsettled but actual declines occurred only in eggs, which went down a half cent a dozen and butterfat which eased off to thirty-three cents a pound.

This is the day to sow your turnips, the twenty-fifth of July, wet or dry. If you fail to sow them today don't say that you have not had due and timely warning. As to the methods of seeding and the kind of turnips that's up to you. However, the ancient maxim is specific as to the quantity of seed. Take about half the quantity of seed that you think will be necessary, stub your toe and spill about half of those and plant what you have left. The chance is that your turnips will be about twice as thick as they ought to be.

IMPORTED MEN CAUSE OF WORRY

Most of Them Shipped Out At Once.

ARE OPENLY DEFIANT

Sheriff Has More Guards Than Usual.

Imported floaters traveling under the guise of strike-breakers are the chief worry of about every one concerned in the local shop crafts strike at present and employment agencies seem to be about the only ones enjoying the strike Most of the groups of men shipped inin the last few days a e about as regraded appearing and shiftless as any seen on the road and many of them are openly defiant, refusing to work, demanding this or that.

MOVE ON.

Neither Wabash officials or city officials want them and most of them are being shipped right on out of town without being put to work. Employment agencies, having orders from the railroads to supply men of certain classifications, simply pick up every one they can get to sign up and ship them regardless of qualifications Sent to a place and then not hired, or even if hired, they remain but a few hours and then move on to Chicago, St. Louis or other large towns and 'hireout' and 'ship' again to another job.

Some of those here have made boasts of having shipped five times since the strike started Two that might be referred to under that old word "greenhorns" exhibited tickets showing they had paid employment agencies $5 to get them jobs.

STARTED RIOT.

The "Philadelphia," gang which arrived about Sunday, started to get rough Monday evening and wanted to start a small riot at the roundhouse but Sheriff M E Penlwell waded into them single handed and soon had their fighting spirit quelled

ONE HIT BY ROCK

The "Danville' gang which caused trouble in Danville about Sunday was brought on to Decatur Monday evening The men refused to work after arriving, and Tuesday morning most of them were sent back east A group of about thirty-five, sent out to work at the shops Monday morning under guard, came right back to the roundhouse under guard after a rock from some unknown quarter struck one of them in the neck.

UNDER GUARD

Monday 110 of the imported men were let out and more were quitting or being fired Tuesday. Sheriff Penlwell had more guards than usual on the inside just to watch these groups as they sat around waiting for their discharge or for train time and finally the sheriff herded one group off to a side and put them under guard

FOUND GUN.

One of the men told the sheriff that he did not have a gun but the sheriff searched him and found one on him He sent the fellow up to the county jail and told the fellow he "had a notion to make him eat the gun" Five or six fights took place among the imported men in the roundhouse yards but the story that one of the strike-breakers had assaulted one of the high officials was incorrect.

DEFECTIVE EQUIPMTNT.

Grievance men of some of the organizations in the five big brotherhoods, that is the trainmen, conductors, engineers, firemen and switchmen, had a conference with local Wabash officials Monday and made objection to handling defective equipment. The officials told these men that they would not be asked to handle defective equipment, whereupon three engines that were in use, were pulled out of service after an inspection by one of the grievance men.

A local chairman of at least one of these organizations received an official printed notice Tuesday which was signed by the national heads of the five brotherhoods. This stated that the organizations had taken the matter up with railroad executives and the latter had promised the men would not be called upon to handle trains with defective equipment Many of the trains are now setting out quite a number of hot boxes, cars that need repacking or rebrassing. Each morning, an engine with car and caboose and some of the officials hike out along the line, stopping at all places and rebrassing or repacking cars.

DISPERSES GROUPS.

A deputy United States marshal was in Decatur again Tuesday morning and circulated around the Wabash station. Wherever he found the men collected in groups, he notified them that they must not collect in group and that this was the last notice

Rev. Russell Rapson, pastor of the East Park Baptist church, was scheduled to speak to the strikers at their mass meeting Tuesday afternoon

Railroad Briefs.

Engineer Harry Stigall, who has been in 51-50 is laying off for a few weeks and has gone to Hot Springs. Schmugge bumped Talbott from an east turn and Fogwell has bumped Victor from extra passenger. Victor bumped Kendall from an east pool turn.

Four men were cut from the extra engineer's board on the 9th and 13th districts, these being Priest, Young, Harlow and Broscnd.

A bulletin to the passenger engineer crews announces that the Decatur crews will work on Nos. 2-1 between Peru and Decatur instead of on 4-3 as they have been working.

The Wabash paymaster made his regular scheduled visit Tuesday but instead of spending two days here this time will only be here the one day as he doesn't have the shop men to pay this time.

A Springfield paper announces that after August 1, the division freight offices of the Illinois division of the B. and O railroad will be in Springfield in the Reisch building The division offices have been located at Piers, Ill.

MAFFIT BRIDGE LEVEE TORN OUT

Dirt Taken Off to within 4 Feet of Water Line.

The work of tearing out the Maffit bridge levee has been completed. The levee is torn down to within about four feet of the water line. The dirt taken off the top of the levee was thrown off into the water at the sides.

WASH REST AWAY.

Now that the top part of the levee has been torn off and the earth on the rest of it loosened up the action of the waves and of the water running over it will wash the remainder of the levee away, according to Birt & Driscoll, the contractors who did the work.

BRIDGE NEARLY DOWN.

The work of tearing down the Maffit bridge is progressing fast. The east end of the bridge has been taken down, and the flooring on the mid-section of the structure was being taken up Tuesday morning.

START THURSDAY ON ST. LOUIS BRIDGE

Lumber for New Floor Has Arrived. Bridge Will Be Closed.

The lumber for the new floor for the St. Louis bridge has finally arrived and will be unloaded Wednesday The county patrolmen have been called in to do the unloading. The work of tearing out the old floor and putting in the new one will start Thursday morning and the bridge will be closed from then on till the job is completed. It is believed that this will require a week. Not only is the old double floor to be removed but new I beams have to be put in, the bridge painted and the approach lowered

P. O. BULLETIN IS AGAIN ISSUED

Warns Business Men Against Cashing Checks.

Another issue of the Decatur postoffice bulletin entitled "Service," and for distribution to larger patrons of the office, has just been sent out by Postmaster Jake Hill. There are several important topics which should be read by all who receive the bulletin. There is a timely warning to merchants and bankers against cashing money orders for strangers

It also warns business houses against putting written communications in parcel post packages as such a package then requires that first class postage rates be paid on the entire package. Another article tells of improvements being made at the postoffice building.

Taken in all, the bulletin will be quite a help for business men to keep in touch and well posted on the Decatur postoffice.

BOYS PROUD OF TORRENCE'S NEW CAR

Inspect It On Trial Spin Made By Park Superintendent.

The new Ford coupe ordered by the city for the use of Superintendent Frank Torrence of the park department arrived Monday. When Mr. Torrence took a trial spin through the Fairview park drives, the boys who are in the habit of playing there saw him.

"Hurrah, Mister Torrence, has got a new Ford," they shouted and came running after him. When he stopped the car the boys climbed in and out of it and gave it a thorough inspection. They felt as proud as if the automobile belonged to them instead of the park department.

FIRST ROUND IN TENNIS TOURNAMENT

May Play Doubles Semi-Finals This Evening.

NOT ON SCHEDULE

Expect to Play Finals Wednesday Morning.

BY GEORGE DUNSCOMB.

Just as had been predicted, the first round in both divisions of the District Tennis Tournament on the Y. M. C. A. courts, Monday evening and Tuesday morning brought some good tennis to the fore but with the field gradually narrowing down some of the best games will be seen late Tuesday evening when the semi-finals probably will be played in the doubles

NO SCHEDULE.

It has been next to impossible to run the matches on anything like a schedule because of the fact that many of the men are working and the games have to be arranged more or less at their convenience.

DOUBLES MATCHES.

Doherty and West were scheduled to play their first doubles match with Schackford and Durning about three o'clock Tuesday afternoon although this was not definitely decided. If the semi-finals are played Tuesday evening and this pair goes through, according to the dope, they will have to play three matches Tuesday evening

START SECOND ROUND

The singles division was just starting on its second round at noon Tuesday and no attempt is made to state when the coming matches will be held.

END WEDNESDAY.

The tournament is expected to be concluded by noon Wednesday, and it is quite likely that the semi-finals and finals in the singles and the finals in the doubles will be played Wednesday morning.

The results Tuesday were:

SINGLES.

Walley defeated Biddle, 6-2, 6-2

Eaton defeated Campbell, Sullivan, by default.

Walley defeated Eaton, 6-0, 6-1.

Wood defeated Pearson, by default

Deetz defeated Barber, 6-4, 8-6.

Gorham defeated S. Miller, by default.

Johnson defeated C Miller, 4-6, 6-2, 8-6.

DOUBLES.

Schakford-Durning defeated Campbell-Pearson by default.

Haines-Catlin defeated Conklin-Gorham, 6-4, 6-3.

Hanson-Hughes defeated Wood-Taggart 6-1, 6-2

MONDAY'S RESULTS.

Ten singles matches and one doubles match constituted the play Monday afternoon. The results of Monday's play follows:

(SINGLES.)

Barber defeated Bradley 6-4, 4-6, 6-2.

Johnson defeated Miller 4-6, 6-2, 8-6.

Mueller defeated Humphrey 7-9, 6-1, 9-7.

Taylor defeated Rosenberg 6-4, 7-5.

Dawson defeated Hughes 6-2, 4-6, 6-0.

Homebrooks defeated Lyons 6-3, 7-5

Hart defeated Kramer 6-2, 6-3.

Becker defeated Taggart 6-0, 6-0.

Deetz defeated Barber 6-4, 8-6.

Duncan defeated Greenwood 6-2, 6-2.

(DOUBLES).

Kramer-Boland defeated Van Gundy-Cornell 1-6, 6-3, 6-4.

TOURNAMENT TOPICS.

BY G. B. D.

Dr. W. E. Hart gave a great exhibition of accurate placements in his match with Kramer, whom he defeated in straight sets, 6-1, 6-3, Some of his returns just inside the back line were beauties.

Barber and Bradley presented an evenly matched pair, and the match went three sets, Barber finally winning the rubber, 6-2, after Bradley had annexed the first two games of the set.

The Kramer-Boland combination of Maroa won the only doubles match played Monday. Their opponents Van Gundy and Cornell, took the first set, 6-1, but the out-of-town men came back and won the next two sets, 6-3, 6-4.

Homebrooks defeated Lyons in straight sets 6-2, 7-5. The winner played steady tennis while Lyons was inclined to be erratic, driving into the net and outside the court.

Mueller spent a busy afternoon taking a nip and tuck match from Humphrey. He lost the first set, 7-9, then won the second in easy fashion, 6-1, but Humphrey made him go 9-7 to take the deciding set.

Joe Catlin and Harry Haines met with some fairly stiff competition from the Conklin-Gorham team Tuesday morning but emerged on top in straight sets, 6-4, 6-3.

Archie West and Short Doherty did not played any matches at noon in either division. That means they will get a workout when they do start

Jack Pearson, of Sullivan, who was to be paired off with Rev. Mr. Campbell of the same city, had to default his matches when Campbell was unable to come, Jack and some of his buddies were over to see the tournament, however.

Walley played two matches Tuesday morning, won both, and was rarin' to go for a third early in the afternoon Tuesday.

Umpiring a tennis match from under a great umbrella is a lot different from umpiring a baseball game—and safer. Tennis players wear rubber soled shoes and don't carry ball bats. That makes a lot of difference when you are out there calling them hot and cold.

A fair crowd, numbering fifty or sixty, saw the matches Monday evening.

Ed, who is busier than a flea bitten dog, voiced the opinion that the tournament would be over by Wednesday noon. A glance at the board with all the matches yet to be played makes us think that Ed is an optimist.

J. W. SMITHS LEASE PARIS THEATER

Place Has Been Remodeled — Free Show on Opening Night.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Smith of Centralia have leased the Paris theater at 1234 East Eldorado street and reopened the east end movie house Saturday night. A feature of the opening was that no admission was charged, the show being free to the old time patrons and east side residents.

Mrs. Smith will manage the theater. Mr. Smith has recently been engaged in the oil drilling business at Centralia. They have remodelled the theater and plan to give the east side a good program of movies each night. The Smiths were attracted to Decatur by the prospect of oil here and declare that they expect to see a good size boom here soon.

BRANCH LIBRARY IS NOW OPEN

Many Books Taken Out on Monday.

The Alice G. Evans branch library opened for business Tuesday afternoon. The library was open for a few hours Monday afternoon, and although the people of the district were not informed that it would be open at that time over sixty-five different persons drew out books.

The library will be open every afternoon of the week but Sunday. It will also be open Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday evenings. Besides the books that can be drawn out, there are a number of popular magazines and newspapers in the reading room.

READING TABLES.

Before this time the branch library has only had room for its book shelves. There was no room for reading tables. Now there is ample room for these, and Miss Hunt, who is in charge of the library, hopes that the people of the northeast end will come to the library to read as well as to draw out books.

The library is in charge of Miss Clara Hunt, who will be assisted at present by Miss Ethyl Davis of the main library staff.

"The strike is holding us up," said George Jagers, president of the Comet Automobile company Tuesday "We have shipments of motor car bodies on the way but we simply cannot get them here because of the freight situation. The lack of the bodies is delaying our production somewhat just at this time.

"I'll be glad when we do not have a strike every time the wind changes."

STANLEY REESE STRUCK BY CAR

Boy Taken to Hospital—Not Seriously Injured.

Stanley Reese, twelve year old son of Mrs. Eugenia Reese, 1075 South Silas street, was run over by a Ford touring car about 2:30 Tuesday afternoon in the 300 block North Main street, near The Review building. The boy was injured, but did not appear to be seriously hurt. He was taken to the Decatur and Macon County hospital in Monson & Wilcox's ambulance.

The car was driven by Kempen Hackman, 1808 East Johns avenue, fifteen years old. There were three people in the car. The bicycle cut inside between the automobile and the curb, then swung out, the boy then looking back at the baseball bulletin board.

The automobile was going south as was the bicycle and rider. The auto caught the rear wheel of the bicycle, threw the boy, and both wheels of the auto ran over him.

At the hospital it was stated that the boy did not appear to be seriously hurt, although he suffered a number of bruises. The physicians had not yet examined him at that time, so it was not known definitely just how badly he was hurt. The boy was conscious, however.

The automobile was going at about fifteen miles an hour according to several bystanders. The people in the car went over to police headquarters to report.

MAKE PLANS FOR GARVER REUNION

Annual Event Will be Held Aug. 24 at Fairview Park.

A meeting of the general committee for the Garver reunion was held last Sunday to make the preliminary plans for the annual picnic. The reunion will be held Aug. 24 and as usual at Fairview park. The committee met at the home of Mrs. Cora Bilby, 1712 East Main street. Subcommittees on entertainment, music and purchasing were appointed. There will be a union dinner, music speaking and entertainment of various kinds. The attendance is usually about 250. The committee is expecting a large attendance this year and members of the family in Kansas, Missouri, Ohio and Indiana have been heard from.

VAN PRAAG SAYS PLANS ARE ALL LAID FOR ACTION

With the fatal "eleventh hour" on the appropriations past with none of the changes made in the allotment of funds asked by Alex Van Praag, street commissioner, he declined to say what he expected to do about it except that the plans are "all laid" for action.

WILL "HATCH"

"Will they hatch," asked a bystander in the commissioners' office Tuesday morning when the street commissioner was asked to say what those plans were.

"They will," he replied, but declined to explain what they might be when hatched.

VERY INADEQUATE.

He claims that the allowance for maintenance of unpaved streets and alleys is ridiculously inadequate, $2,400, for seventy miles of streets and 100 miles of alleys.

He asks that the city's share of the county bridge and road fund and the receipts from traffic violation fines be turned into the street fund, a total of about $62,000 according to his estimate.

FUNERALS.

CHARLES E. STANLEY.

The funeral of Charles Stanley was held in the Church of the Living God Tuesday morning. The services were conducted by Rev. Effie Webb. The singers were W. R. Covington, Raymond Hency, Orville Spencer and Arthur Dively.

The flowers were in charge of Mrs. John Chamber, Mrs. John Christian and Mrs. Ben Cook. The pallbearers were Roy Lyons, William Gillespie, Arthur Doty, Cecil O. Lyons, William Hedgeburg, and George Rushing. The burial was in Greenwood.

ROBERT HARNETT.

The funeral of Robert Hartnett was conducted at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning in St. Patrick's church by Rev. Father Murphy and was attended by many friends.

The flowers were in charge of Mrs. C. L. Seler and Mrs. Louis Stookey. The pall bearers were John Clark, Emil Reinhold, James Berry, Sr., James Bain, Jr, William Dennison, Jacob Gralicker, Mike O'Donnell and John Griffin.

CLAIMS BRICK ARE NOT FIT FOR PAVING

C. H. Pierce Protests to City Council.

CORNERS SHATTERED

City Engineer Says Best Ever Used Here.

Charles H. Pierce, who owns property along the line of the improvement, came to the office of the city commissioners Tuesday morning to make a vigorous protest against the use of the paving brick which are being received for the paving of North Broadway and other streets included in the project.

SHOULD HAVE GOOD STREET.

Mr. Pierce took the subject up with Alex Van Praag, commissioner of streets, and with other members of the council, complaining that the bricks had corners knocked off of them, "almost all of them", as he put it, and also saying that the work would cost the property owners considerable money for which they are entitled to a good street.

TESTS SHOWED GOOD QUALITY.

The commissioner of streets said that tests had shown that the brick were of unusually good quality and this was later confirmed by C. R. Andrew, city engineer, who said that in the tests already made of five bricks from each carload the abrasive loss usually ran only around eighteen and a half per cent, once going as high as 20.5 per cent.

Tests showing a loss as high as twenty-two per cent would meet the requirements as to quality.

NONE REJECTED.

The bricks are placed in a rattler with a number of large and small steel balls and they are revolved for an hour in the large steel drum, making eighteen hundred revolutions with the ten bricks and the steel balls battering around together. If the amount of abrasion from the bricks amounts to twenty-two per cent the bricks are discarded and the car rejected. No cars have been found to be below the quality required.

BEST LOT EVER HERE.

"I believe this is the best lot of paving brick that have ever come to Decatur," said Mr. Andrew. "They are certainly the best I have ever seen here."

Whether or not the shattering of the corners of the bricks is sufficient to cause their rejection except for those badly broken is a question which will doubtless come up when the inspection of the street is made as the work is done.

Mr. Pierce intimated that he would enjoin the use of the brick which he contends are not as good as they should be to make a pavement which will be subjected to the heavy traffic which this pavement will be called upon to carry.

MRS. GIBSON AT HOME OF MOTHER

Husband Gone to Detroit After Work.

Mrs. C. O. Gibson, who took her children and left her home, 1400 North Graceland avenue, Sunday avenue, Sunday night after it was visited by authorities looking into the cause of the death of her small daughter, was found in the home of her mother, Mrs. Dippy, on North Monroe, Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Gibson said that her husband had left Saturday evening for Detroit where his brother-in-law would find him a job that paid more money. He had been working for Charles Weston for fifteen dollars a week.

Mrs. Gibson wanted transportation to Detroit furnished for her and four children. The county could not do this as it is unlawful for the county to transport dependents to another place unless it is assured that they will be supported in the place to which they are going, according to the overseer of the poor.

RAISE FUNDS.

A number of friends of the family started a collection of money to send them to Detroit. The father-in-law will endeavor to find money to send them after the funeral of the child Tuesday afternoon.

NO INQUEST.

Officials here will not hinder the family's departure if it can secure sufficient funds. There will be no coroner's inquest over the body of little Martha Marie Gibson, according to Coroner Roy Dawson. "The death was caused by under nutrition, according to the doctor who attended the child, and that is what will be stated on the death certificate," he said.

NOT PREPARING TO OPEN SHAFTS HERE

Much to Be Done Befor Hoisting Is Resumed.

NO COAL ON HAND

Prices Soar Beyond War Time Figures.

Decatur coal mining companies are doing no work preparatory to opening the shafts here. Some repairs on the tipple and railroad bunkers have been made at one of the shafts but no work is being done below ground in anticipation of an early resumption of digging such as has been reported in various parts of the state.

MUCH WORK NEEDED.

That there will be considerable work to be done in the entries after such a long period of idleness is certain. "Falls" occur, entries are doubtless blocked in places and considerable cleaning up work will be necessary before actual coal hoisting is resumed even after a settlement of the strike has been reached.

NONE ON HAND.

Anyone actually needing coal now in a retail way will be in bad luck as there is almost no coal in the city ready for delivery on sale at this time.

Yards which ship in coal from the outside have nothing but promises of coal to be delivered when the railroads can do so and prices are soaring in a way which will make the war time figure on coal seem like bargains.

PRICES HIGH.

"Mine run coal is quoted today at the western Kentucky shafts at $12 50 a ton there, and it is not high grade coal in any sense of the word," said one dealer in Decatur Tuesday when asked if he had any coal for sale. He did not have a pound on hand but he did have a letter received that morning from officials of the Louisville & Nashville railroad, the line which handles most of the output of the western Kentucky mines saying that there are now 3,600 loaded coal cars standing on their tracks at one point, Corbin, Ky., which the company is unable to move because of the rail strike.

PROMISES ONLY.

Another dealer who ships in coal reported that he had nothing but promises on hand and quotations ranging around $12 a ton at the Kentucky mines.

Hard coal is being quoted by, at $15.50 a ton delivered but he has none on hand although he has a car due him. This dealer does not expect much more of the West Virginia coal to reach this territory although he thinks perhaps the imports of coal from England may help the eastern situation somewhat.

KIWANIANS SEND SCOUTS TO CAMP

Members Talk Informally on City Needs.

When announcement was made at the Kiwanis club luncheon Tuesday noon that six or seven boys in the city should go to Camp Sangamo, the boy scout camp, Wednesday and that they could not pay their way individual members of the Kiwanis club contributed enough to send five boys for a week.

In the absence of R. E. Morningstar of Chicago on account of illness, five men from the membership spoke briefly on one of the big needs of Decatur. E. B. Burns said he thought the town was all right as it is. R. B Irwin spoke for a constructive program for the young people of Decatur. H. R. Gregory spoke for the zoning law. Arthur Metzler said good street entrances to the city gave a good impression. Rev. J. W. McDonald urged a big auditorium where all might meet.

Tentative plans for the Kiwanis picnic on Saturday Aug. 5 at the fishing club were announced. The date may be changed but plans are made for a fried chicken supper, sports in the afternoon and cards and dancing at night.

IMPORTED MEN CAUSE OF WORRY

Most of Them Shipped Out At Once.

ARE OPENLY DEFIANT

Sheriff Has More Guards Than Usual.

Imported floaters traveling under the guise of strike-breakers are the chief worry of about every one concerned in the local shop crafts strike at present and employment agencies seem to be about the only ones enjoying the strike. Most of the groups of men shipped inin the last few days a e about as regraded appearing and shiftless as any seen on the road and many of them are openly defiant, refusing to work, demanding this or that.

MOVE ON

Neither Wabash officials or city officials want them and most of them are being shipped right on out of town without being put to work. Employment agencies, having orders from the railroads to supply men of certain classifications, simply pick up every one they can get to sign up and ship them regardless of qualifications Sent to a place and then not hired, or even if hired, they remain but a few hours ,and then move on to Chicago, St Louis or other large towns and 'hiresout' and 'ship' again to another job.

Some of those here have made boasts of having shipped five times since the strike started. Two that might be referred to under that old word "greenhorns' exhibited tickets showing they had paid employment agencies $5 to get them jobs

STARTED RIOT.

The 'Philadelphia," gang which arrived about Sunday, started to get rough Monday evening and wanted to start a small riot at the roundhouse but Sheriff M. E. Peniwell waded into them single handed and soon had their fighting spirit quelled

ONE HIT BY ROCK

The 'Danville" gang which caused trouble in Danville about Sunday was brought on to Decatur Monday evening The men refused to work after arriving, and Tuesday morning most of them were sent back east A group of about thirty-five, sent out to work at the shops Monday morning under guard, came right back to the roundhouse under guard after a rock from some unknown quarter struck one of them in the neck.

UNDER GUARD

Monday 110 of the imported men were let out and more were quitting or being fired Tuesday. Sheriff Peniwell had more guards than usual on the inside just to watch these groups as they sat around waiting for their discharge or for train time and finally the sheriff herded one group off to a side and put them under guard

FOUND GUN

One of the men told the sheriff that he did not have a gun but the sheriff searched him and found one on him. He sent the fellow up to the county jail and told the fellow he "had a notion to make him eat the gun." Five or six fights took place among the imported men in the roundhouse yards but the story that one of the strike-breakers had assaulted one of the high officials was incorrect.

DEFECTIVE EQUIPMTNT.

Grievance men of some of the organizations in the five big brotherhoods, that is the trainmen, conductors, engineers, firemen and switchmen, had a conference with local Wabash officials Monday and made objection to handling defective equipment The officials told these men that they would not be asked to handle defective equipment, whereupon three engines that were in use, were pulled out of service after an inspection by one of the grievance men.

A local chairman of at least one of these organizations received an official printed notice Tuesday which was signed by the national heads of the five brotherhoods This stated that the organizations had taken the matter up with railroad executives and the latter had promised the men would not be called upon to handle trains with defective equipment Many of the trains are now setting out quite a number of hot boxes, cars that need repacking or rebrassing. Each morning, an engine with car and caboose and some of the officials hike out along the line, stopping at all places and rebrassing or repacking cars

A deputy United States marshal was in Decatur again Tuesday morning and circulated around the Wabash station. Wherever he found the men collected in groups, he notified them that they must not collect in groups and that this was the last notice

Rev. Russell Rapson, pastor of the East Park Baptist church, was scheduled to speak to the strikers at their mass meeting Tuesday afternoon.

It also warns business houses against putting written communications in parcel post packages as such a package then requires that first class postage rates be paid on the entire package. Another article tells of improvements being made at the postoffice building.

Taken in all, the bulletin will be quite a help for business men to keep in touch and well posted on the Decatur postoffice

'Hurrah, Mister Torrence, has got a new Ford," they shouted and came running after him. When he stopped the car the boys climbed in and out of it and gave it a thorough inspection. They felt as proud as if the automobile belonged to them instead of the park department.

FIRST ROUND IN TENNIS TOURNAMENT

May Play Doubles Semi-Finals This Evening.

NOT ON SCHEDULE

Expect to Play Finals Wednesday Morning.

BY GEORGE DUNSCOMB.

Just as had been predicted, the first round in both divisions of the District Tennis Tournament on the Y. M. C. A. courts, Monday evening and Tuesday morning brought some good tennis to the fore but with the field gradually narrowing down some of the best games will be seen late Tuesday evening when the semi-finals probably will be played in the doubles.

NO SCHEDULE.

It has been next to impossible to run the matches on anything like a schedule because of the fact that many of the men are working and the games have to be arranged more or less at their convenience.

DOUBLES MATCHES.

Doherty and West were scheduled to play their first doubles match with Schackford and Durning about three o'clock Tuesday afternoon although this was not definitely decided. If the semi-finals are played Tuesday evening and this pair goes through, according to the dope, they will have to play three matches Tuesday evening.

START SECOND ROUND.

The singles division was just starting on its second round at noon Tuesday and no attempt is made to state when the coming matches will be held.

END WEDNESDAY.

The tournament is expected to be concluded by noon Wednesday, and it is quite likely that the semi-finals and finals in the singles and the finals in the doubles will be played Wednesday morning.

The results Tuesday were:

SINGLES.

Walley defeated Biddle, 6-2, 6-2.

Eaton defeated Campbell, Sullivan, by default

Walley defeated Eaton, 6-0, 6-1.

Wood defeated Pearson, by default.

Deetz defeated Barber, 6-4, 8-6.

Gorham defeated S Miller, by default

Johnson defeated C Miller, 4-6, 6-2, 8-6.

DOUBLES.

Schakford-Durning defeated Campbell-Pearson by default.

Haines-Catlin defeated Conklin-Gorham, 6-4, 6-3.

Hanson-Hughes defeated Wood-Taggaret, 6-1, 6-2.

MONDAY'S RESULTS.

Ten singles matches and one doubles match constituted the play Monday afternoon The results of Monday's play follows:

(SINGLES.)

Barber defeated Bradley 6-4, 4-6, 6-2.

Johnson defeated Miller 4-6, 6-2, 8-6.

Mueller defeated Humphrey 7-9, 6-1 9-7.

Taylor defeated Rosenberg 6-4, 7-5.

Deetz defeated Barber 6-4, 8-6.

Duncan defeated Greenwood 6-2, 6-2.

(DOUBLES).

Kramer-Boland defeated Van Gundy-Cornell 1-6, 6-3, 6-4.

TOURNAMENT TOPICS.

BY G. B. D.

Dr. W. E. Hart gave a great exhibition of accurate placements in his match with Kramer, whom he defeated in straight sets, 6-1, 6-3. Some of his returns just inside the back line were beauties.

Barber and Bradley presented an evenly matched pair, and the match went three sets, Barber finally winning the rubber, 6-2, after Bradley had annexed the first two games of the set.

The Kramer-Boland combination of Maroa won the only doubles match played Monday. Their opponents Van Gundy and Cornell, took the first set, 6-1, but the out-of-town men came back and won the next two sets, 6-3, 6-4.

Homebrooks defeated Lyons in straight sets 6-2, 7-5. The winner played steady tennis while Lyons was inclined to be erratic, driving into the net and outside the court.

Mueller spent a busy afternoon taking a nip and tuck match from Humphrey. He lost the first set, 7-9, then won the second in easy fashion, 6-1, but Humphrey made him go 9-7 to take the deciding set.

Joe Catlin and Harry Haines met th some fairly stiff competition om the Conklin-Gorham team Tuesy morning but emerged on top in raight sets, 6-4, 6-4.

Archie West and Short Doherty d not played any matches at noon either division. That means they will get a workout when they do start.

Jack Pearson, of Sullivan, who was to be paired off with Rev. Mr. Campbell of the same city, had to default his matches when Campbell was unable to come. Jack and some of his buddies were over to see the tournament, however.

Walley played two matches Tuesday morning, won both, and was rarin' to go for a third early in the afternoon Tuesday.

Umpiring a tennis match from under a great umbrella is a lot different from umpiring a baseball game —and safer. Tennis players wear rubber soled shoes and don't carry ball bats. That makes a lot of difference when you are out there calling them hot and cold.

A fair crowd, numbering fifty or sixty, saw the matches Monday evening.

Ed, who is busier than a flea bitten dog, voiced the opinion that the tournament would be over by Wednesday noon. A glance at the board with all the matches yet to be played makes us think that Ed is an optimist.

J. W. SMITHS LEASE PARIS THEATER

Place Has Been Remodeled — Free Show on Opening Night.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Smith of Centralia have leased the Paris theater at 1234 East Eldorado street and reopened the east end movie house Saturday night. A feature of the opening was that no admission was charged, the show being free to the old time patrons and east side residents.

Mrs Smith will manage the theater. Mr. Smith has recently been engaged in the oil drilling business at Centralia. They have remodelled the theater and plan to give the east side a good program of movies each night. The Smiths were attracted to Decatur by the prospect of oil here and declare that they expect to see a good size boom here soon.

BRANCH LIBRARY IS NOW OPEN

Many Books Taken Out on Monday.

The Alice G. Evans branch library opened for business Tuesday afternoon. The library was open for a few hours Monday afternoon, and although the people of the district were not informed that it would be open at that time over sixty-five different persons drew out books.

The library will be open every afternoon of the week but Sunday. It will also be open Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday evenings. Besides the books that can be drawn out, there are a number of popular magazines and newspapers in the reading room.

READING TABLES

Before this time the branch library has only had room for its book shelves. There was no room for reading tables. Now there is ample room for these, and Miss Hunt, who is in charge of the library, hopes that the people of the northeast end will come to the library to read as well as to draw out books.

The library is in charge of Miss Clara Hunt, who will be assisted at present by Miss Ethyl Davis of the main library staff.

STANLEY REESE STRUCK BY CAR

Boy Taken to Hospital—Not Seriously Injured.

Stanley Reese, twelve year old son of Mrs. Eugenia Reese, 1075 South Silas street, was run over by a Ford touring car about 2:30 Tuesday afternoon in the 300 block North Main street, near The Review building. The boy was injured, but did not appear to be seriously hurt. He was taken to the Decatur and Macon County hospital in Monson & Wilcox's ambulance.

The car was driven by Kempen Hackman, 1808 East Johns avenue, fifteen years old. There were three people in the car. The bicycle cut inside between the automobile and the curb, then swung out, the boy then looking back at the baseball bulletin board.

The automobile was going south as was the bicycle and rider. The auto caught the rear wheel of the bicycle, threw the boy, and both wheels of the auto ran over him

At the hospital it was stated that the boy did not appear to be seriously hurt, although he suffered a number of bruises. The physicians had not yet examined him at that time, so it was not known definitely just how badly he was hurt. The boy was conscious, however.

The automobile was going at about fifteen miles an hour according to several bystanders The people in the car went over to police headquarters to report.

VAN PRAAG SAYS PLANS ARE ALL LAID FOR ACTION

With the fatal "eleventh hour" on the appropriations past with none of the changes made in the allotment of funds asked by Alex Van Praag, street commissioner, he declined to say what he expected to do about it except that the plans are "all laid" for action.

WILL "HATCH."

"Will they hatch," asked a bystander in the commissioners' office Tuesday morning when the street commissioner was asked to say what those plans were.

"They will," he replied, but declined to explain what they might be when hatched.

VERY INADEQUATE.

He claims that the allowance for maintenance of unpaved streets and alleys is ridiculously inadequate, $2,400, for seventy miles of streets and 100 miles of alleys.

He asks that the city's share of the county bridge and road fund and the receipts from traffic violation fines be turned into the street fund, a total of about $62,000 according to his estimate.

CLAIMS BRICK ARE NOT FIT FOR PAVING

C. H. Pierce Protests to City Council.

CORNERS SHATTERED

City Engineer Says Best Ever Used Here.

Charles H. Pierce, who owns property along the line of the improvement, came to the office of the city commissioners Tuesday morning to make a vigorous protest against the use of the paving brick which are being received for the paving of North Broadway and other streets included in the project.

SHOULD HAVE GOOD STREET.

Mr. Pierce took the subject up with Alex Van Praag, commissioner of streets, and with other members of the council, complaining that the bricks had corners knocked off of them, "almost all of them", as he put it, and also saying that the work would cost the property owners considerable money for which they are entitled to a good street.

TESTS SHOWED GOOD QUALITY.

The commissioner of streets said that tests had shown that the brick were of unusually good quality and this was later confirmed by C. R. Andrew, city engineer, who said that in the tests already made of five bricks from each carload the abrasive loss usually ran only around eighteen and a half per cent, once going as high as 20.5 per cent.

Tests showing a loss as high as twenty-two per cent would meet the requirements as to quality.

NONE REJECTED.

The bricks are placed in a rattler with a number of large and small steel balls and they are revolved for an hour in the large steel drum, making eighteen hundred revolutions with the ten bricks and the steel balls battering around together. If the amount of abrasion from the bricks amounts to twenty-two per cent the bricks are discarded and the car rejected. No cars have been found to be below the quality required.

BEST LOT EVER HERE

"I believe this is the best lot of paving brick that have ever come to Decatur," said Mr. Andrew. "They are certainly the best I have ever seen here."

Whether or not the shattering of the corners of the bricks is sufficient to cause their rejection except for those badly broken is a question which will doubtless come up when the inspection of the street is made as the work is done.

Mr. Pierce intimated that he would enjoin the use of the brick which he contends are not as good as they should be to make a pavement which will be subjected to the heavy traffic which this pavement will be called upon to carry.

MRS. GIBSON AT HOME OF MOTHER

Husband Gone to Detroit After Work.

Mrs. C. O. Gibson, who took her children and left her home, 1400 North Graceland avenue, Sunday avenue, Sunday night after it was visited by authorities looking into the cause of the death of her small daughter, was found in the home of her mother, Mrs. Dippy, on North Monroe, Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Gibson said that her husband had left Saturday evening for Detroit where his brother-in-law would find him a job that paid more money. He had been working for Charles Weston for fifteen dollars a week.

Mrs. Gibson wanted transportation to Detroit furnished for her and four children. The county could not do this as it is unlawful for the county to transport dependents to another place unless it is assured that they will be supported in the place to which they are going, according to the overseer of the poor.

RAISE FUNDS.

A number of friends of the family started a collection of money to send them to Detroit. The father-in-law will endeavor to find money to send them after the funeral of the child Tuesday afternoon.

NO INQUEST.

Officials here will not hinder the family's departure if it can secure sufficient funds. There will be no coroner's inquest over the body of little Martha Marie Gibson, according to Coroner Roy Dawson. "The death was caused by under nutrition, according to the doctor who attended the child, and that is what will be stated on the death certificate," he said.

NOT PREPARING TO OPEN SHAFTS HERE

Much to Be Done Befor Hoisting Is Resumed.

NO COAL ON HAND

Prices Soar Beyond War Time Figures.

Decatur coal mining companies are doing no work preparatory to opening the shafts here. Some repairs on the tipple and railroad bunkers have been made at one of the shafts but no work is being done below ground in anticipation of an early resumption of digging such as has been reported in various parts of the state.

MUCH WORK NEEDED.

That there will be considerable work to be done in the entries after such a long period of idleness is certain. "Falls" occur, entries are doubtless blocked in places and considerable cleaning up work will be necessary before actual coal hoisting is resumed even after a settlement of the strike has been reached.

NONE ON HAND.

Anyone actually needing coal now in a retail way will be in bad luck as there is almost no coal in the city ready for delivery on sale at this time.

Yards which ship in coal from the outside have nothing but promises of coal to be delivered when the railroads can do so and prices are soaring in a way which will make the war time figure on coal seem like bargains.

PRICES HIGH.

"Mine run coal is quoted today at the western Kentucky shafts at $12.50 a ton there, and it is not high grade coal in any sense of the word," said one dealer in Decatur Tuesday when asked if he had any coal for sale. He did not have a pound on hand but he did have a letter received that morning from officials of the Louisville & Nashville railroad, the line which handles most of the output of the western Kentucky mines saying that there are now 3,600 loaded coal cars standing on their tracks at one point, Corbin, Ky., which the company is unable to move because of the rail strike.

PROMISES ONLY.

Another dealer who ships in coal reported that he had nothing but promises on hand and quotations ranging around $12 a ton at the Kentucky mines.

Hard coal is being quoted by [illegible] at $15.50 a ton delivered but he has none on hand although he has a car due him. This dealer does not expect much more of the West Virginia coal to reach this territory although he thinks perhaps the imports of coal from England may help the eastern situation somewhat.

KIWANIANS SEND SCOUTS TO CAMP

Members Talk Informally on City Needs.

When announcement was made at the Kiwanis club luncheon Tuesday noon that six or seven boys in the city should go to Camp Sangamo, the boy scout camp, Wednesday and that they could not pay their way individual members of the Kiwanis club contributed enough to send five boys for a week

In the absence of R. E. Morningstar of Chicago on account of illness, five men from the membership spoke briefly on one of the big needs of Decatur. B. B. Burns said he thought the town was all right as it is. R. B. Irwin spoke for a constructive program for the young people of Decatur. H. R. Gregory spoke for the zoning law. Arthur Metzler said good street entrances to the city gave a good impression. Rev. J. W. McDonald urged a big auditorium where all might meet.
